Miller Novel Hit By D.A. As 'Obscene'

Criminal Complaint Is Fil ed Against Bookseller In Hub

Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety today lowered the boom against the sale of Henry Miller's "Tropic of Cancer" with a criminal complaint issued against San Anselmo bookseller T. B. Pershina.

"In a sense, this is a test case," said Garety. "Therefore, Mr. Pershina will be given the opportunity to arrange bail before being booked." Pershina is manager of the Golden Hind Bookshop at 560 San Anselmo Avenue. Pershima immediately hired attorney Charles Pierce to defend him.

The district attorney described the book as a "sordid and degrading treatment of life in general and sex in particular." Some of the passages are "described in words ordinarily found only on the walls of public toilets," said Garety. "In my opinion, this book is obscene matter; that is, its predominate appeal is to prurient interest."

The district attorney said he realizes copies of the book are being sold in various parts of the county. "I do not intend to act as a self-appointed censor and will not presume to tell the sellers of books and magazines what they may offer for sale. It is their responsibility to keep their shelves free of smut and obscenity," he said.

Pershina was singled out for the test case because he had knowledge of the contents of the book when he sold a copy to Investigator A. W. Adam Jr. of the district attorney's office on Oct. 25, Garety explained. "In fact, he pointed out to Mr. Adam some of the more lurid passages."

"Knowledge of obscene material is a necessary element in the offense, said Garety.

It will be up to a judge or jury to decide whether the book may continue to be sold to all who have the price, young and old, the district attorney added.

He said Chief Raymond R. Buchignani of San Anselmo police was in full accord with the action and would send his men to have Pershina booked today.

The City of Los Angeles is prosecuting a similar case against the same book.

Religious Tax Exemption For Ranch Probed

Effort to win a religious tax exemption for the 3,200-acre Palomarin Ranch owned by Christ's Church of the Golden Rule and a large number of other enterprises was under way today before U.S. Tax Judge Russell E. Train in San Francisco.

A major issue is $400,000 received for timber payments from the Bolinas ranch in 1956, money on which the government claims a straight capital gains deficiency of $95,000 on the ground that an improper religious exemption was claimed on the tax return.

OTHER HOLDINGS

Other enterprises under federal fire in this connection, all owned by the same group, which is said to have no church building, include Myrtledale Hot Springs resort in Napa County, the presently leased American Laundry in San Jose, a produce business, a building materials firm, a nursery, warehouses, a dairy, a coffee shop, a sawmill, and a real estate business in various parts of the state.

Internal revenue officials contend that none of these enterprises is entitled to other than normal business treatment despite claims that devotional exercises are conducted in connection with the operations.

"We believe," testified Mrs. Marian T. Huff, secretary of the group's Elected Delegates Committee, "in applying the universal laws of God in everyday life, business as well as spiritual."

CHARGES INCLUDE

Charges include failure to treat as normal business dividends payment to the committee of $1,735 in 1957 and $1,997 in 1958 as returns on timber funds.

As initial witness, Mrs. Huff contended that it is not necessary to have a church in order to give religious complexion to business operations by such means as daily 10 a.m. devotional periods at the San Jose Laundry. She said Myrtledale resort is primarily for student ministers.

The original church of the group, founded in the 1940s by evangelist Arthur L. Bell, went bankrupt and was reorganized with senior elder as its only ordained position.

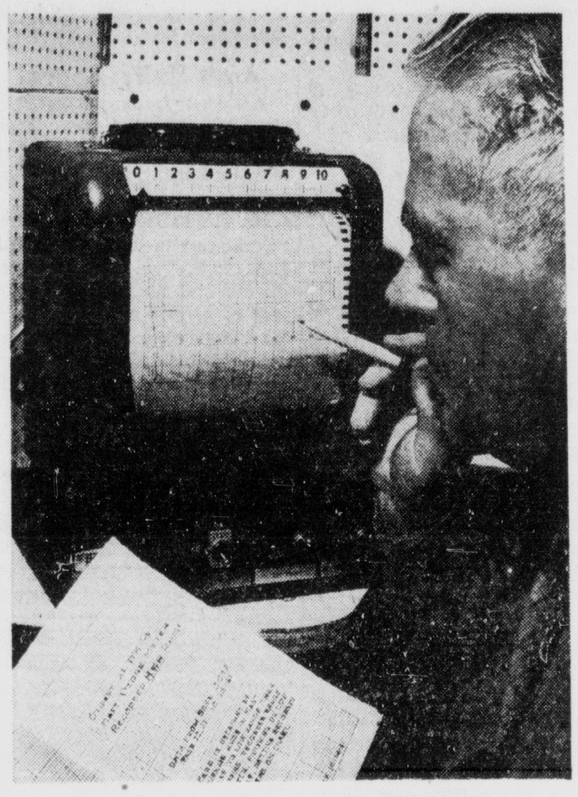
WANDERING LIONS WILL BE ANCHORED

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Ashe of 292 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael, plan to anchor their lions with steel rods before next Halloween.

The Ashes' stone lions, guardians of their gateway, were the two that Halloween pranksters deposited Tuesday night on the San Rafael Library lawn. Two strong men and a tow truck were required to get them off the lawn yesterday.

On Halloween last year, one of the lions was carried to a neighbor's lawn, said Ashe. So he had both cemented to concrete bases. But even that didn't stop this year's pranksters.

So now Ashe plans to secure the lions to their bases with iron rods.



SMOG SNIFFER GOES TO WORK

Marin County air smelled good today to both county communications director Mansfield Lewis and the "Mast Ozone Meter" just installed 40 feet high atop his building by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District. The sniffer element is a little black box not seen here. Lewis is looking at the continuous recording graph downstairs, which shows results of mixing ozone with the local air to check the "smellocycle" count. All Lewis was sure about the "O-sub-3" recording was that it meant everything was dandy today. (Independent-Journal photo)

Three Hub Teen-Agers Picked Up In Burglaries

San Anselmo police today disclosed arrest of three boys, 14, 15 and 16 years old, on suspicion of three burglaries of Hub City homes.

Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani said loot in the burglaries totaled $160.50, plus a transistor radio, a fountain pen, a clock, and a six-pack of beer.

Officer Chester Orr arrested the 15-year-old, a Fairfax resident, yesterday after responding to a report that three boys were seen running from a home at 76 Allen Avenue, San Anselmo.

He learned the boy and two others, 16 and 14, both of San Anselmo, had been missing from classes yesterday. Arrests of the other two followed. All admitted the burglaries, the officer said.

The six-pack of beer was taken from the Allen Avenue home, Orr said. On Oct. 26, the boys entered the home of Margaret Landers at 24 Brenfleck Avenue and took a clock, a fountain pen and a half-dollar, he reported. On Monday, they got $160 and a transistor radio from the home of Mrs. Adeline Wisehart at 111 Calumet Avenue.

The three were lodged in Marin County Juvenile Hall on burglary charges.

NO SIGN OF LIFE

Mystery Ship Breaking Up On Rocks At Beach

Mystery today veiled the strange case of a "ghost ship" that was breaking up on the rocks at McClure's Beach, with no sign of life aboard.

Chief Lee Smith of the Point Reyes Lifeboat Station reported the 40-foot boat grounded between Elephant Rock and McClure's Beach south of Tomales Point about 4:30 p.m. yesterday. John McClure of McClure Ranch first spotted the wreckage. The boat, named Rogues is registered to Don W. Farris of Moss Landing in Monterey County.

The bow was sanded in, and the stern was breaking up among the rocks. Chief Smith said insurance men were working today to salvage the electronic gear although the boat itself was too far gone to save.

The boat was registered to Farris in November of 1960, according to Sheriff Fred Snyder of Monterey County. It has not been seen in Monterey since, he said.

Marin Sheriff's Deputy George Congdon said he learned that Farris's mother, who lives in Garden Grove, San Diego County, heard from Farris at 2 p.m. on Monday. At that time, Farris reported he was on his way home from Oregon.

Farris's partner, Ed Jarvis of Brookings, Ore, said Farris left Brookings at 5 p.m. Sunday and was to stop for gasoline in Eureka or Crescent City. Farris was sailing alone as far as Jarvis knew.

Nothing on the floundering boat indicated four play. The Coast Guard searched the beach but found no sign of life.

U.S. May Start A-Tests Over Ground—Kennedy

Pins Possibility On World Security Need

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President John F. Kennedy announced today that the United States will resume nuclear tests in the atmosphere if they are necessary for U.S. security and the protection of the Free World.

Preparations are underway now for a resumption of above-ground tests, the president said, if an evaluation of the Soviet Union's big testing series shows they are necessary. He declared that the United States now has a lead over Russia in nuclear weapons and "does not intend to lose it."

Fallout will be held to an "absolute minium" if the tests actually get underway, he said.

The United States, Kennedy declared, has no intention of exploding enormous fallout producing weapons like Russia's multi-megaton bombs.

The president did not spell out details. It is known, however, that scientists and military experts want to conduct atmospheric tests to perfect warheads for intercontinental rockets, anti-missile missiles and tactical nuclear weapons.

In addition, some congressmen have urged that atmospheric tests are necessary to develop a neutron bomb — a weapon that can kill troops on a battlefield but leave property and cities intact.

Kennedy accused the Soviet Union of showing "complete disregard for the welfare of mankind" by its current series of atmospheric shots. He also said Russia prepared for them in secret while discussing a test ban with this country.

In emphasizing that U.S. security might necessitate resumption of atmospheric tests, Kennedy said the Soviet series could not be dismissed as mere bluff and bluster. The Russian shots—at least 28 in number so far—probably have proved of some value to Russian scientists and military men, he said.

U.S. scientists and nuclear experts still are analyzing the results of the Russian series.

Kennedy emphasized that in total military strength, "the United States would not trade places with any nation on earth."

The president's statement was made to reporters following a lengthy meeting with members of the national security council.

Speaking with emphasis as U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson watched from a corner of Kennedy's camera-cluttered office, the president said this country also never would undertake an atomic test as part of phychological warfare.

MORATORIUM IS REJECTED BY SOVIETS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Russia joined the United States and Britain today in rejecting demands for renewal of a moratorium on nuclear weapons tests.

Russian delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin, in a rocket-rattling speech, told the General Assembly's main political committee that "only the overwhelming might of the Soviet Union can cool the passions of the adventurers" of the West—"those warlike maniacs."

A resolution sponsored by India and five other powers calling for resumption of an uninspected test moratorium was expected to go to a vote in the 103-nation committee late today.

U Thant To Tell Powers Aide Choices

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) —U Thant of Burma, the apparent choice for interim United Nations secretary general, planned to tell the big powers today his selection of deputies to serve in his U.N. "cabinet."

An agreement to leave the choice of assistant secretaries general to Thant was reached in principle yesterday when the United States and Britain came out in favor of that procedure.

Soviet Ambassaor Valerin A. Zorin said after a meeting with Thant that "we are near agreement" on selection of an administration to succeed Dag Hammarskjold.

The developments ended a six-week deadlock.

In formal statements, U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and British Minister of State Joseph B. Godber said the choice of aides should be left to Thant.

But informed sources said the understanding was that the Burmese would make his selections known to the big four powers, including France, before his scheduled election.

Another U.S.-Soviet conference was expected before the security council is summoned to recommend Thant's election. Barring last-minute objections, it could take place tomorrow.

PANELISTS DEBATE FALLOUT SHELTERS

Disaster Office Personnel See Need; Psychologist Urges Efforts For Peace

A "Marin Sounding Board" program on radio KTIM on the question of who should be responsible for building fallout shelters today developed into a debate as to whether they should be built at all.

That they should be built was the contention of William Ward, regional administrator, and Hugh W. Sheehan, assistant civil defense co-ordinator of the California Disaster Office at Walnut Creek.

Philip Drath, chairman of the Marin County Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, and Dr. William H. Pemberton, Mill Valley psychologist, argued that the shelters would be ineffectual against all-out nuclear war and urged greater efforts toward solving world tensions without war.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, county assistant civil defense director, said, "There is no doubt in my mind that the federal government should go into it if we go into the shelter building business."

He gave his opinion after reading an editorial in today's San Francisco Chronicle which concluded:

"But now comes faith in the fallout shelter and the survival kit and with it the delusion that the family moves into the shelter when the bombs begin to fall, and subsists cozily enough for two weeks on special rations and then moves out again for business as usual.

"Thus, to the deluded, war loses its blessed obsolescence and becomes practical — and possible — once more."

Ward said, "We urge everyone seriously concerned to take whatever steps he can within his power" to build shelters. He said "ultimately the federal government will have to get into it to a more substantial extent." He said it now is financing civil defense on a "50-50 basis" with local governments.

Drath agreed with Ward that nuclear war is possible and that shelters could "save a number of lives if war comes." But he maintained "war is not inevitable." He contended 60 to 160 million Americans could be killed by nuclear war.

He quoted from the book "The Community of Fear," by

'Theft Ring' Case Is Going To Grand Jury

The case of San Rafael Police Officer Arthur M. Newman, accused of being the "brains" of a four-man robbery and burglary ring, will be presented to the Marin County Grand Jury Monday night in the county courthouse.

Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety will seek felony indictments against Newman, 34, and three suspected accomplices, he said today. They are Freddy Morris Sullins, 21, former night club bouncer; Robert Walker Cory, 25, truck driver and Robert Harris Miller, 37, refrigerator store employee, who has served time in prison for burglary. All three are from San Francisco.

San Rafael Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa, who arrested Officer Newman, said Newman is suspected of master-minding several burglaries and robberies in San Rafael.

Police also impounded a ring which Newman was wearing at the time of arrest and a typewriter and an adding machine from Newman's home at 5 Meadow Way in San Rafael. District Attorney Garety said the items are listed as stolen.

Conclusion Due From Jury In College Hearing

Marin County grand jurors, investigating allegedly secret meetings of the College of Marin board of trustees, will probably reach some conclusion Monday night, Acting Foreman Harry H. Heifetz disclosed today.

Last night, the grand jury heard Bryce W. Anderson, city editor of the Independent-Journal for almost two hours. Anderson referred to a resume presented the grand jury and subsequently made public by County Counsel E. Warren McGuire to show that purchase of property by the college district had been carried through without public discussion.

Heifetz said he had no statement to make until the grand jurors have had a chance to discuss the matter further. This discussion is set for 7:30 p.m. Monday in the courthouse.

No witness has been called for that meeting, said Heifetz. However, he hopes "we can reach some decision to resolve the matter."

President Hits Campaign Trail

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President John F. Kennedy set out today on his first real political expedition since he moved into the White House.

He went to New York City to help re-elect a Democratic mayor and to New Jersey to boost a Democratic governor. These are the biggest political prizes in next Tuesday's off-year elections.

Accompanied by Adlai E. Stevenson, Kennedy left the White House by helicopter after a meeting of the National Security Council.

HAPPY GUEST—Former President Harry Truman and President John F. Kennedy exchange pleasantries at the end of a picture taking session last night at the White House. Truman Assails Ike Administration; Tickles Ivories At Kennedy Party

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman accused the Eisenhower administration today of having held America back by "wrong and unwise policies at the top." Now, he said, comforting, courageous leadership is giving the nation a chance to do its best.

"I look to the days and months ahead with confidence," Truman said with reference to the administration of President John F. Kennedy.

And, peering back at his own tenure of the White House, Truman declared that nothing "related to my experience there came up to disturb or to haunt me."

The former chief executive's forum was a luncheon at the National Press Club. It was staged on the 13th anniversary of what the club called the political upset of the century—Truman's underdog victory over Thomas E. Dewey in the 1948 presidential election.

Truman, in his prepared speech, ripped into Dwight D. Eisenhower repeatedly, but not by name. The two former presidents never have made personal peace.

He said of the Republican Eisenhower administration that "it was one of the more unfortunate periods in the history of American government."

Last night President and Mrs. Kennedy treated Truman and his family to a nostalgic evening at the White House.

And the 77-year-old former president had such a good time he even sat down at the piano and entertained some 40 dinner guests with a rendition of Paderewski's Minute in G.

The visiting Trumans—Bess, Harry, daughter Margaret, and son-in-law E. Clifton Daniel Jr.—got an unusual treat for an ex-presidential family, a night at their old home.

The dinner party the Kennedys staged in their honor brought together many old friends and former officials of the Truman administration and stirred many memories.

Among the guests was former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Harry Vaughan, who was Truman's military aide.

The Trumans broke the usual rigidity of the receiving line in the blue room by kissing and hugging old friends.

When Truman and his wife drove up in late afternoon to begin their visit they were met by the Kennedys and applauded by some 50 employees who had worked under Truman and still hold White House administrative posts.

Truman seemed so much at home that he took Kennedy's arm and guided him inside.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Finnish Policy

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—President Urho Kekkonen of Finland was scheduled to fly home today, reassuring this country a note from Russia requesting defense talks was "a legitimate request."

"As far as Finnish-Soviet relations are concerned, the proposal to have consultations does not introduce a new principle but reflects the very grave tension that exists in Europe," he told a world affairs council dinner here last night.

Kekkonen wound up a tour of the United States, by saying Finnish foreign policy was designed to safeguard the security and independence of his nation.

Protest To France

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (AP) — Police charged a crowd of 200 demonstrators who attempted to march on the French Embassy here last night.

The demonstrators, protesting against French policy in Algeria, were involved in several scrimmages. Eight people were reported slightly hurt.

Publisher Honored

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Thomas M. Storke, 84-year-old publisher of the Santa Barbara News-Press, has won the Lauterbach Award for 1961, the Nieman Foundation for Journalism at Harvard University has announced.

Storke, the announcement noted yesterday, was the first to call attention to the activities of the militantly conservative John Birch Society in his community last winter.

Storke will receive the award in Santa Barbara Nov. 5.

The citation to Storke said: "He has made his community his lifelong concern; to guard its need from exploiters in his youth; to protect its character from destroyers in his age. He has demanded that public issues be discussed with decency and sanity."

Teamsters Walkout

CHICAGO (UPI) — A walkout by 3,500 teamsters today threatened the nation's second-largest city with a shortage of gasoline and fuel oil.

The work stoppage by the gas and oil truck drivers caught many home owners short of heating fuel. Supplies to thousands of filling stations, industries and homes were cut off.

Civil Defense Push

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Pentagon planners tentatively have decided to push for a vastly expanded Civil Defense program costing about one billion dollars next year, it was learned today.

They are considering channeling part of the Civil Defense funds through some type of federal aid to education program for the construction of school bomb shelters.

The program would triple this year's spending.

Finance Chairman

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sen. George Miller (D-Martinez) appeared today to have cinched the chairmanship of California's Senate Finance Committee, which controls more than two billion dollars a year in state spending.

Sen. Hugh M. Burns (D-Fresno), president pro tempore of the senate, said yesterday that if Miller will accept the chairmanship and rules committee agrees with it, "he is in."

Rayburn Condition

BONHAM, Tex. (AP)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn, back in Bonham to spend his last days among friends and neighbors, is down to 130 pounds from his normal weight of 176.

The Texas Democrat, 79, is suffering from incurable cancer.

Dr. Joe Risser, Rayburn's physician, said Rayburn was given a blood transfusion yesterday because his blood count had dropped gradually.

Mobutu On March

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Gen. Joseph Mobutu declared today troops of the central Congo government have moved along a wide front more than 35 miles into north Katanga Province in a general offensive to end the long-standing secession proclaimed by Katanga President Moise Tshombe.

Occupying villages and mission stations as they march, Mobutu said, his troops have been joyously received by the north Katanga population.

Havana Papers Closed

HAVANA (AP) — Two Havana newspapers closed down yesterday and announced they were merging with the remaining afternoon paper, La Calle. The papers Prensa Libre and Combate said the measure was taken by the Castro regime to save paper.

Arab Unity Appeal

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — King Hussein appealed for Arab unity in a speech opening the new Jordanian Parliament yesterday.

He emphasized Jordan's determination to see Arab "right and dignity" in Palestine restored, and pledged full support to Algeria in her struggle for independence. He also announced that Jordan would expand relations with newly independent African states.

Rusk, Japan Talks

HAKONE, Japan (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk conferred today with Japanese Premier Hayato Ikeda about the Soviet nuclear tests and the Communist threat to Southeast Asia.

The two leaders met at the opening sessions of cabinet-level conference aimed at establishing a "full partnership" in trade.

Included in the U.S. delegation were Interior Secretary Stewart Udall, Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman, Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges, Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg, Treasury Under Secretary Henry Fowler and presidential economic adviser Walter Heller.

Barbers in India carry razors, scissors, clippers and other equipment in a belt around the waist and will shave a customer anywhere — even in his own bed.

George Washington —As A Young Man

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A statue of George Washington at a lawyer's exhibit at the state fair spent one day decked out with brown hair.

Municipal Judge James Demopolos, handing out literature at the display, said a man grabbed a wig from the statue and ran. A brown wig was the best replacement that could be found immediately, the judge said.

Spelling Error

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Tackle Ernie McMillan of the St. Louis football Cardinals is a brother of Shellie McMillon of the Detroit Pistons pro basketball club. The difference in the name spelling traces back to their birth certificates.

Three Awarded Nobel Science Prizes

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—The Nobel Prize for physics was awarded jointly today to two atomic scientists, one an American the other a West German. The prize for chemistry went to an American for his research in photosynthesis, a basic life process. All three men are working in California.

Sharing the physics prize are Dr. Robert Hofstadter, 46, of Stanford University and Dr. Rudolf Moessbauer, 32, of Munich University, now at the California Institute of Technology. The chemistry prize went to Dr. Melvin Calvin, 50, of the University of California.

The prizes are worth 250,000 Swedish crowns—$48,300. The atomic scientists will split that amount. The awards complete the list of prizes for 1961.

ROBERT HOFSTADTER
Nobel physics prize

Hofstadter was cited for his research into methods of controlling nuclear reaction to make it work for peaceful purposes. Moessbauer shared the physics prize for his work with gamma rays, one of the space hazards for man. His research may contribute to the safety of future manned flights into space.

Calvin's prize is for research allied to that of Dr. Willard F. Libby, who won the prize in chemistry last year, the awarding body noted. Libby used carbon as a method of measuring the age of rocks and ancient plant material. His process is known as the eternal clock of the universe.

Broadly speaking, Calvin has tried to set the time when the clock was first wound up by his research into the assimilation of carbon dioxide in plants through the process of photosynthesis.

In its citation, the 140-member Swedish Royal Academy of Science said Hofstadter was honored for "his pioneering studies of electron scattering in atomic nuclei and for his thereby achieved discoveries concerning the structure of the nucleons."

This constituted one of the greatest steps toward harnessing the effect of a nuclear reaction and making peaceful use of atomic power possible.

Moessbauer was cited "for his research concerning the resonance absorption of gamma radiation and his discovery in this connection of the effect which bears his name."

The German scientist's work is of fundamental importance in all atomic research and is a factor in reckoning the chances for future space flights between planets when radiation of other kinds have to be overcome.

Today's awards bring to $289,200 the prize money awarded this year by the foundation established by Alfred Nobel, the inventor of dynamite.

All awards will be presented in Stockholm and Oslo on Dec. 10 by the kings of Sweden and Norway.

Some insects live unscathed on insect-eating plants. Certain small moths, for example, lay their eggs only on pitcher plants and the larvae feed on the plant tissues.

Gls Travel Unmolested In Red Zone

BERLIN (UPI)—Fresh replacements for part of the U.S. Army's 6,500-man West Berlin garrison arrived from West Germany today, traveling the autobahn across Communist East Germany without incident.

The first platoon of an engineering company drove unmolested for three and a half hours, and past two Soviet checkpoints.

The troop movement underlined the United States' right of free access to isolated West Berlin without German controls.

About 40 soldiers arrived in a convoy of one jeep and four trucks. The others will follow in two days.

By 3000 B. C., in the early Bronze Age, Byblos, Lebanon, had grown into an internationally famous city-state and a trade hub of the eastern Mediterranean.

8-Year-Old Case Goes On And On And—

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)— It wasn't the money that bothered Clarence J. O'Brien. It was the principle of the thing.

Eight years ago, he parked his car in a lot run by Willard J. Isaacs. When he returned for the car after the lot was closed for the night, the keys were missing and he had to seek other means to get home.

He made a second journey to the lot the next day, and Isaacs presented him a bill for $1 as an overnight parking charge. When he refused to pay, Isaacs withheld the car.

That got O'Brien's Irish dander up. He decided to take the case to court.

Eight years went by as O'Brien, a South Milwaukee attorney, staged a legal fight against Isaacs. His moment of victory came yesterday when Circuit Judge William F. Shaughnessy affirmed a lower court ruling awarding O'Brien $154.30. Judgment for loss of working time attempting to recover the car from the lot, a $30 premium on a $1,500 bond he posted to recover the auto pending trial, and court costs and disbursements.

But O'Brien's victory smile turned to dismay a few minutes later.

Isaacs' attorney said the case would be appealed to the Wisconsin Supreme Court "as a matter of principle."

Reclaimed Water Study Is Under Way

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California is losing 1,490,000 acre feet of water a year by not using industrial and municipal sewage.

That was the testimony by Arthur J. Inerfield, senior engineer for the State Department of Water Resources, yesterday before the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Water Resources.

But he added "I know of no absolutely safe way to purify waste water and then return it directly to wells or reservoirs."

"The question of whether to transport fresh water, purify sea water or reclaim waste water for dry areas must always involve a compromise between the degree of purity wanted and the cost involved," he said.

The committee was told 6 per cent of the 25 million acre feet of water Californians use each year becomes sewage.

If it is to become reclaimed, all foreign matter, chemicals, bacteria and viruses must be removed.

The state is attempting to find out ways of putting the reclaimed sewage directly into wells and water mains.

Industrialist Gives $325,000 For USC Communism Study

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Industrialist Henry Salvatori believes communism, like the weather, is to most people a formidable but only vaguely understood force — obviously capable of devastation, but through processes which even many educated men do not comprehend.

To control or counteract such forces, he says, you must know them.

That is why Salvatori and his wife, Grace, have given $325,000 to the University of Southern California to establish a research institute on Communist strategy and propaganda. Salvatori is a USC trustee.

The institute will be headed by Dr. Rodger Swearingen, a Harvard-trained Ph. D. and an authority on the Soviet Union and communism. First off, Swearingen says, "we will assemble a professional staff which will include eminent authorities in this field from all over the world. A research program, additional specialized courses in the international relations school curriculum, a lecture series and a teachers' seminar are all planned."

Salvatori, 60, is founder and board chairman of Western Geophysical Co.

"I have shared with most Americans the feeling of deep disappointment and dismay at the powerlessness of our foreign policies to stave off one disaster after another at the hands of the Communists," he said in an interview yesterday. "It seems to me that one of our weaknesses has been a lack of understanding of the Communist methods."

No Brown Intervention For Condemned Killer

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown announced yesterday he will not intervene in the case of James Kendrick, scheduled to die in San Quentin's gas chamber Friday for murder of a highway patrolman.

Kendrick was convicted in San Bernardino of the fatal shooting of Patrolman Richard Duvall on Feb. 23, 1960.

Novato Only Marin City With Law On Food Handlers

Of Marin's 10 incorporated cities, only the newest one — Novato—has compulsory health inspections for food handlers employed in restaurants.

This was brought to light today by the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn., which seeks to enforce examinations to detect tuberculosis among food handlers.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officers, said such inspections are enforced in unincorporated areas under the county food handlers' ordinance. But of the 10 cities, only Novato has adopted an ordinance.

The tuberculosis association has written city councils of the other nine cities asking that they adopt the ordinance, announced Helen Hoxie, president.

Novato became acquainted with beneficial aspects of the county ordinance while it was still part of the unincorporated area, said Dr. Albrecht. So when Novato became incorporated, it didn't wish to drop back in standards, and contracted with the county to continue services including enforcement of the food handling ordinance.

"There are two provisions above and beyond the California restaurant act which is still the only thing applying to the nine other cities," she said.

"First, the county ordinance requires that every food establishment be certified every six months as meeting minimum health and sanitation requirement. The state act does not contain any specified requirement as to frequency or regularity of inspections. Some places are checked annually or oftener, some less often.

"Second, the county ordinance says that the required certificate will not be issued until evidence is presented that all employees of an establishment have had at least a mini-film chest X-ray within the year and are free from tuberculosis in communicable stage. State law doesn't require a permit to operate so there is a deficiency as to the tuberculosis requirement."

The state law gives authority and responsibility to take action if there is suspicion of any communicable disease, said Dr. Albrecht. But this lacks preventative aspect.

Mrs. Hoxie said that five new active cases of tuberculosis have been found among Marin County employees of food establishments since last Jan. 1.

She said her group feels great concern over the present irregularity of health and sanitation inspection of the nine Marin cities not under county ordinance.

San Rafael Man Injured In Crash

A San Rafael man suffered serious head injuries in a car crash just east of the summit of White's Hill on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard last night.

Harold Albert Keelen of 2455 Fifth Avenue was reported in "fair" condition at Marin General Hospital today, suffering from concussion, possible skull fracture and cuts of scalp and right eyelid.

A cab driver in San Francisco, Keelen was eastbound in a station wagon and had just surmounted the top of the hill at 5:50 p.m. Douglas LeRoy Anderson, fireman of the county fire department at Woodacre, was driving up the hill in a sedan with his wife and baby when Keelen suddenly appeared around a curve. The two cars collided. Nobody in the Anderson vehicle was hurt.

Safeway Dividend

OAKLAND (AP) — Safeway Stores yesterday declared a quarterly dividend of 40 cents a common share, payable Dec. 30 to stockholders of record Nov. 30. The dividend represented a 2½ cent increase over the 37½ cents per share paid in previous quarters this year.

2 Drunken Drivers Given Stiff Fines

Two drunken drivers were fined and put on six months probation yesterday by Judge Leonard A. Thomas in Marin Municipal Court.

Patrick W. Burrow, 19, of 4661st Support Squadron, Hamilton Air Force Base, must pay $134 fine. For 90 days he must not drive at all. He was caught on Highway 101 last Sept. 12.

Herbison McMullen, 53, of 30 Excelsior Lane, Sausalito, drew $166 fine. He was caught on Richardson Street in Sausalito on Tuesday.

Fort Baker Soldier Charged In Hit-Run

A Fort Baker soldier Tuesday night was turned over by Mill Valley police to the Army provost marshal charged with hit and run driving.

A car driven by Pvt. Scott Edward Smith struck a power pole on Sunnyvale avenue at 10:05 p.m., according to Mill Valley Police Capt. Joe Canet. Smith was followed and caught later on Miller Avenue, Canet said.

Harrison Brown, physicist of the California Institute of Technology, in describing the holocaust effects of an attack on Los Angeles. He said a bomb on San Francisco would create a tidal wave as high as the Campanille at University of California at Berkeley, "so it looks as though we'd have to have shelters that could float."

Pemberton admitted he had thought about building his own shelter but insisted that in the face of 50-megaton bombs, "some defense is not enough."

Answering a telephoned question on possibility of martial law after an attack, Ward said there was no such plan except as "a last resort." Drath said it would be naive to believe there would be a military force to take over government —that there would be "an anarchic brand of brigands looking after themselves as best they could."

Drath said he backed President John F. Kennedy in his plea for disarmament. Ward said the President also told Congress "civil defense is readily justifiable."

Brenda Wainwright Is Granted Divorce

Blonds Brenda Wainwright, 23-year-old former model who was "Miss Portland of 1956", won a divorce today in Marin Superior Court from Sausalito attorney Harry S. Wainwright on grounds he stayed out all hours of the night, then told her to "go jump in the lake" when she asked where he had been.

Judge N. Charles Brusatori granted the interlocutory decree. Wainwright did not contest the action and was not present to refute the charges. Attorney Myer Penn of San Francisco represented Mrs. Wainwright.

She declined alimony, pointing out the marriage had been a brief one and "I don't feel he should pay for the rest of his life." They were married last Feb. 15. She said a settlement had been agreed upon, but terms were not disclosed. She said she would move from their Sausalito home to San Francisco.

She was dressed in charcoal grey dress, brown coat, and brown feather hat. She wore green makeup, sapphire and pearl teardrop ear rings, and long brown gloves.

She told the judge Wainright was a "party type of person who enjoyed going out and not coming home until 7:30 in the morning." She said he would not explain his action and would tell her it was "none of your business" and "go jump in the lake."

Her accusations were substantiated by her cousin, Mrs. Judith Anderson of San Francisco.

Both were married previously. She has a 2-year-old son by a previous husband.

Prison Camp Escapee Gets To Louisiana

A San Quentin Prison inmate, who walked away from a Glenn County conservation camp last August, has ended his hike in a Louisiana jail.

Robert W. Phillips, 40, was apprehended by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and has been lodged in the Rapids Parish (County) Jail in Alexandria, La., since Oct. 17, Asst. Warden Dale B. Frady of San Quentin reported today.

Frady said extradition proceedings have been initiated by Glenn County Sheriff Ben Karanig to return Phillips to Glenn County to face escape charges.

Phillips was sent to San Quentin Prison from Los Angeles County in 1951 to serve one to 20 years for assault with intent to rape. He was paroled in 1958 but returned to the prison on March 10, 1959, for parole violation.

Keaton Is Again President Of Marin Cripple Society

Frank J. Keaton of San Rafael was installed for his third successive term as president of the Marin County Society for Crippled Children and Adults at an installation dinner last night at Sabella's Restaurant in Alto.

Other officers were installed as follows:

Honorary vice presidents, Albert Marall of San Rafael and Mrs. Charles Hawthorne of Sonoma; first vice president, John Flor of Larkspur; second vice president, Marius J. Cordone of San Rafael; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Finn III of Mill Valley; recording secretary, Mrs. George Giannechini of Larkspur; treasurer, John Finn III of Mill Valley; assistant treasurer, Mrs. E. N. Stone of Mill Valley; parliamentarian, Mrs. Evelyn B. Leavy of Greenbrae; historian, Mrs. Charles Brown of San Anselmo.

This was the 21st annual meeting of the society. Three women who were in attendance at the first meeting were introduced: Mrs. Leavy, Mrs. Charles Reindowar, who served as chairman of the evening, and Mrs. Dare Morgan.

Flor acted as master of ceremonies and Mrs. Leavy, herself a past president, conducted the installation of new officers.

Daryl Hopkins, director of special education for the county schools, described the special education program and said that a new program of auditory training for the deaf is about to start.

Members were told that their new center at 629 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, is almost ready for occupancy with most labor and materials donated.

12-Year-Old Boy Reports Beating

A 12-year-old Sleepy Hollow boy, who complained that two boys about his age beat him up at Sleepy Hollow School, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday evening.

The victim was Merritt L. Hewitt Jr. of 80 Oak Springs Drive. Mrs. Merritt L. Hewitt Sr. told Deputy Sheriff Edward McKamey that she was called to the school and found her son was having difficulty breathing. She took him to the hospital. Doctors found he was not seriously hurt.

Deputy McKamey said he talked to the boy but could not learn what had prompted the attack.

Meeting Set On Joint Sewer Unit

A report on a proposal for a joint sanitary district for Stinson Beach and Bolinas will be presented at a public meeting in the Bolinas Community Center at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Hugh Dogherty, chairman of the sanitation committee of the Stinson Beach Progressive Club, said the report prepared by his committee was discussed by directors of the club last night.

Four organizations, the Bolinas Community Center, Bolinas Property Owners Assn., Bolinas Beach Improvement Club and Stinson Beach Progressive Club have organized the meeting.

Work is being done by the county department of public works in cleaning Eskott Creek in Stinson Beach, the Stinson Beach directors were told last night, secretary Harriet Greene said. Action came after the board of supervisors established a flood control zone for the beach community.

Co-chairmen Gary Upton and Mrs. Walter Boland were appointed to work on a program to provide a community Christmas tree and decorations for Stinson Beach.

Frank Moreland was named chairman of the nominating committee for the club's December election. He is assisted by Ralph Sigmund and Mrs. Alvin Eustis.

MARIN FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

4:37 a.m., Tamalpais Valley—Unattended rubbish catches fire at Tennessee Valley Road and Shoreline Highway.

11:10 a.m., San Anselmo—Car belonging to Mrs. Morton Steiner of 121 Rafael Drive, San Rafael, catches fire in front of Tamalpais Theater; caused by faulty insulation on wires near engine; $100 damage.

3:10 p.m., Marinwood — Roof chimney fire at residence of Robert McCurdy, 231 Cobblestone Drive; no estimated damage.

3:30 p.m., Sausalito—False alarm at Bulkley and Atwood Avenues.

3:32 p.m., Marinwood—Fire in combination washer-dryer, caused by towel getting stuck in lint trap, at home of Harold Johnston, 365 Pinewood Drive; no estimated damage.

3:40 p.m., Ross—False alarm, set off by workman's torch, at Katharine Branson School, Fern Hill Avenue.

4:15 p.m., Marinwood — Grass fire at recreation area south of Quiet Wood near creek bed; cause unknown; no damage.

8:07 p.m., Alto—Fire, caused by faulty carburetor, in car belonging to James Wise while auto parked at 34 Meadow Drive.

KTIM To Host

Radio station KTIM in San Rafael will host 20 Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary students enrolled in a "Church Public Relations" course Tuesday. Dr. Elmer Gray and Carl M. Halvarson, instructors, will accompany the group.

Paris Blast Kills One

PARIS (UPI)—A boiler exploded in the kitchen of a crowded snack bar near the Champs Elysees, killing one man and injuring 14 other persons.

Pretty Old Oats At Fire Station

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—An old fire station building was purchased by a business firm which started some remodeling.

Fred J. Reineke, head of the firm, removed a piece of moulding from the ceiling and from a storage room above there came tumbling down half a bushel of oats.

The horse-driven fire fighting equipment was motorized in 1914.

Black Bears Get Transfers

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Black bears are destructive nuisances in tree farms by causing bark to peel from young trees, but a humane way of controlling them has been developed by trapper Jack Aldrich.

He has devised a light-weight foot snare that holds the animal unharmed until the trapper comes along an transfers it to another section of forest where young trees are not being nurtured.

$400 Theft Reported

Mary Taylor of 10 Gilbert Street, San Rafael, complained to police yesterday that about $400 worth of personal belongings disappeared from the porch of her former home at 216 Bayview while she was in the process of moving between last Saturday and Monday morning.

Tiburon Fire Unit

Edward J. Parnell was elected chairman of the nominating committee for next year's officers at last night's meeting of the Tiburon Volunteer Fire Department, reported president Allen A. Olson. Chosen to serve with Parnell are Randolph J. Esplin and Nobe Kuwatani.

Defense Talk Set In Corte Madera

Gene Riggs of the Marin County chapter of the American Red Cross will speak tonight at 8 o'clock on family health in one of a series of civil defense programs in the First Baptist Church, 5461 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera. He will be assisted by members of the National Ski Patrol.

A film from the Red Cross will be shown and pamphlets on first aid training and the nurse's part in civil defense will be given out. The program was given last night at the Lagunitas School.

M. B. Scott of the sanitation division of the Marin County Health Department will be speaker at the final meeting of the Corte Madera series at 8 p.m. next Thursday at the church.

Recreation Unit Approves Zoning

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission yesterday passed a resolution approving creation of an open area district type of zoning, Gibbs Lawson, chairman, announced.

Hearing on the zoning will be held Monday by the Marin County Planning Commission.

The parks and recreation commission also approved the preliminary landscaping plan for Paradise Beach County Park on the Tiburon Peninsula, submitted by Edmond Kagi of the planning commission staff, Lawson said.

Jr. Museum Name Change Approved

Twenty-three members of the Junior Museum of Marin showed up at a membership meeting last night to approve changing its name to the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum.

The vote was unanimous, reported David N. Plant, president of the board.

By-laws of the non-profit organization require votes of 21 members for a matter which must be approved by the membership. There were two to spare last night.

Child Molesting Hearing Today

Paul Jospeh Kelly, 33, of 142 Park Street, San Rafael, faced a charge of child molesting in Marin Municipal Court today.

Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety filed a complaint against Kelly last night, charging him with molesting a 16-year-old boy last Sunday in San Rafael. Kelly worked as a boys' counselor.

He was held in county jail in lieu of $525 bail.

Pickup Truck Stolen

Franklin Anderson reported to Sausalito police last night that his 1946 pickup truck was stolen from in front of the Sausalito Nursery at 2005 Bridgeway some time yesterday between 3 and 8 p.m.

Halloween Damage

Kevin Ball of Mill Valley reported to police at 9:35 p.m. yesterday that he found the paint job on his car damaged after he washed it following an egg fight between teen-agers outside his home at 170 Miller Avenue on Halloween.

Newfoundland has drained peatlands, ripped them open with swamp plows and settled farmers on the reclaimed land.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. June Thompson Dies At 41

Mrs. June D. Thompson, 41, died at her home at 135 Montecito Avenue, San Rafael, last evening, apparently of a heart failure while sleeping.

Her husband, Robert L. Thompson, discovered his wife dead when he arrived from work about 6:30 p.m. He called a doctor, who said death apparently had occurred about an hour earlier.

Mrs. Thompson had been under a doctor's care for a heart ailment. Rev. Stephen R. Hammond of the Episcopal Church of the Redeemed reported she had been sleeping when he left the home after a call at 3:30 p.m.

Mrs. Thompson was a member of the Church of the Redeemer. She was a native of Washington.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons and a daughter, Larry, William and Kathleen Thompson, at the home; her mother, Mrs. Winifred Rahnke of Reno, Nev., and a brother, Eugene McKenna of Reno.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael.

SALVATOR MORECI

Salvator Moreci, 57, collapsed at his home at 620 Manuel Drive, Novato, about 3 a.m. today and died, apparently of a heart attack.

An autopsy was to be performed.

Moreci was a chauffeur for Airport Cab Co. in San Francisco. He had been a chauffeur for 30 years in this area.

He was born in San Francisco, Oct. 23, 1904. He moved to Marin County in 1946. He lived in Novato, Woodacre and San Anselmo prior to moving back to Novato in March of this year.

He was a member of the Chauffeurs' Union Local 265 in San Francisco.

He is survived by his wife, Thelma, a clerk with the Army Engineers in San Francisco; a daughter, Mrs. Sandra Jean Stewart of Novato; two sons, Salvator Moreci Jr., with whom he made his home, and Ronald Moreci of San Francisco; three brothers, Vincent, Peter and Joseph Moreci of San Francisco; a sister, Mrs. Mary Danna of Monroe, La., and five grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Redwood Funeral Chapel in Novato.

CLARA McATEE

Mrs. Clara M. McAtee, mother of Joseph I. McAtee of 249 Los Angeles Boulevard, San Anselmo, died yesterday in a local rest home after a long illness. She was 81.

Mrs. McAtee, formerly of 24 Collins Street, San Francisco, came to San Anselmo four months ago to reside with her son. She was a native of Germany and widow of John J. McAtee.

She is survived by her son and a daughter Mrs. Erna Doegnitz of Reading, Pa., as well as numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Inurnment will be private.

KATHARINE DENNIS

Funeral services for Katharine Markley Dennis, 71, who died last Friday at her home after a short illness, will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley. Inurnment will be private.

A native of South Carolino, she had lived in Mill Valley 14 months with her son, John M. Dennis, at 69 Marlin Avenue. She resided in California about 70 years.

Mrs. Dennis had been retired, her last occupation being a saleswoman for the Village Book Store in Carmel.

She is survived by her son and three grandchildren.

MRS. WARREN

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret H. Warren, wife of San Francisco interior decorator John C. Warren will be held at N. Gray and Co. Mortuary in San Francisco tomorrow at 3 p.m.

Mrs. Warren, 38, collapsed and died at her home Tuesday before the arrival of a doctor she had summoned. Her death was attributed by the coroner to a chronic abdominal ailment.

A native of San Francisco, she had resided for the past year at 198 Almonte Boulevard, Mill Valley.

She had been a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority at University of California, Berkeley.

She is survived by her husband and three children, Wendy, 17, Cary, 14, and John, 10, her mother, Mrs. Margaret Harrison of Berkeley; brother, Maurice Harrison Jr. of Los Angeles, and two sisters, Mrs. Sally Meyer of San Francisco and Mrs. Lucy Campbell of Berkeley.

Interment will be private.

RUSSELL CORNWELL

The family of Russell Edward Cornwell, 4-year-old who collapsed and died at his Forest Knolls home Tuesday from a respiratory ailment, have decided to delay the funeral services at the chapel of the Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno, until tomorrow at 1 p.m. The services were originally scheduled this afternoon.

No more rained-out washdays when you own a dryer. Rain or shine, day or night, you're the boss! You can dry clothes in minutes, whenever you like. And you can dry almost anything because the new dryers reduce heat as clothes get dry ... protecting even the most delicate fabrics. That means clothes come out so soft and wrinkle-free that little or no ironing is needed for many things. Why not buy a gas or electric dryer before the rains come ... and beat Mr. Weather at his own game!

Atomic Survival Group Meeting Set Tomorrow

A committee meeting tomorrow is expected to set up permanent by-laws for "Oasis 1, Organized Atomic Survival in Suburbia," it was learned today.

Made up of civil defense-minded residents of the Terra Linda Valley, its chairman pro tem is Norman Cocking of 431 Nova Albion Way. Mrs. Marianna Sanger of 440 Nova Albion Way is secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Sanger's husband, James Sanger, who has been a prime mover in efforts to get a shelter program started in Dixie School District, said today the new group has a guarantee of support for at least one 100-person community shelter with a cost estimate of $100 to $250 per occupant but a figure around $170 considered probable. Several other groups are in process of formation, he said.

Meanwhile another of a series of Dixie district meetings will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the Bernard Hoffman School. City Manager Dan E. Andersen of San Rafael is expected to attend.

Sanger said hope has not been abandoned for getting a school shelter program started and that if this materialized, "Oasis 1" would be ready to merge its effort with that of the school district.

V. Judson Klein of 4 Arcangel Way, San Rafael, was to meet with the organization committee and assist on legal aspects of the by-law preparation.

San Jose School Opening Delayed

The San Jose Intermediate School will not be completed as scheduled Nov. 16, and pupils will not move into it until December, Supt. Phillip W. Schneider said yesterday.

"School construction has been delayed by the subcontractors doing the plumbing and window work," Schneider said.

"At first we thought that we could move pupils into the classrooms while the rest of the building was being finished," he said, "but we have decided against that."

Reynolds Construction Co. of Santa Rosa is general contractor on the job.

Hopes Raised For Peace In Algeria

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI) — Conciliatory statements by Algerian rebel leaders raised hopes today for a negotiated end to seven years of bloodshed and death in this North African territory.

French officials placed the casualty toll from yesterday's violence at nearly 250—80 of them killed.

Most of the casualties were Moslems called out in mass demonstrations by the Algerian rebel leadership based in Tunis to mark the 7th anniversary of the start of the Algerian war for independence from France.

The French Army put its own casualties at three dead and 16 wounded.

Miller Reviews Activity Of Congress For Labor

High feeling engendered in Congress over the foreign aid and education bills undoubtedly will be carried over into its next session, Rep. Clem Miller (D-Corte Madera) told the Marin County Labor Council last night.

Miller reviewed activities of the first session of the present Congress and prospects for the second session in a talk to the council, which is made up of representatives of AFL-CIO unions in the county.

The congressman expressed belief that medical aid to the aged, through amendment to the social security law, would be pushed at the next session. "The main struggle will be in the ways and means committee," he predicted.

Rep. John McCormick (D-Mass.) has the inside track for speaker of the House to replace ailing Sam Rayburn of Texas, said Miller, but a dispute may arise over his election.

Union representatives reported employment generally full with the rainy season holding off. Loney Trimble of the Laborers Union reported a shortage of skilled laborers.

Civil Defense Gear Sales Are Booming

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sales of survival kits, radiation detectors and other civil defense gear are booming. Surviv-all, Inc., reports recent sales and orders for its emergency food-water kits jumped to 11,000 in recent weeks, compared with fewer than 1,000 through mid-year.

Johnson and Johnson reports a 20 per cent rise in sales of first aid kits in the past month.

Hattie's Death Toll Mounts

Thousands Homeless In Storm

BELIZE, British Honduras (AP) — Rescue workers counted more than 100 dead and thousands homeless today in shattered Central American coastal towns ravaged by Hurricane Hattie. The death toll was expected to rise higher.

Harassed officials so far were unable to estimate the number injured by the hurricane which roared across this British colonial capital early Tuesday with tidal waves and winds up to 200 miles an hour.

Hattie destroyed or damaged an estimated 75 per cent of the buildings in Belize, a sea-level port of 31,000 which had little or no seawall protection.

The death list included 40 at Belize; 25 at Stancreek, the British colony's second biggest town; 20 on Turneffe Cay, and 14 on Caulker Cay, islands off the British Honduras Coast.

The Guatemalan government reported five killed in the jungle province of Peten which borders British Honduras. Another death was reported on Honduras' northern coast.

The hurricane broke apart against the mountains of British Honduras and water began to recede from Belize Tuesday afternoon. With the recession came the first flurries of relief supplies and first accounts of the violent storm which finally slammed ashore after following a meandering course across the Caribbean.

Gov. Sir Colin Thornley declared a state of emergency and placed the colony under martial law.

Police broke up mobs looting stores and arrested 20 persons. In the vanguard of the looters were some of the 200 prisoners released from the city jail as the hurricane approached.

The towering seas that broke over the city destroyed the prison.

Twenty-foot waves rolled into the ground floor of Government House, the governor's residence and official headquarters, and washed away all records.

"The extent of the disaster overwhelmed our estimates but there would have been a vastly greater number of casualties if advance arrangements had not been made," Thornley said.

"The British Honduras broadcasting system began relaying the Miami Weather Bureau hurricane reports from the moment the storm was in the area."

Food kitchens were set up and the distribution of medical supplies began. A tank truck toured Belize, distributing chlorinated water, the only safe supply in the city.

Thornley said it was impossible so far to determine the extent of the hurricane's physical damage. "Right now we are busy doing all we can for the people," he explained.

1,000 Feet Of Pipe Laid At Muir Beach

One thousand feet of pipe has been installed at Muir Beach from the bridge on Lower Road to the hill above the town, it was announced last night at a meeting of the Muir Beach Community Services District board.

The two-inch pipe replaces rusty pipe which has been causing water breaks, Secretary-Manager Michael G. Gensburger said. He said pipe and fittings cost $859, and installation $90. About 150 feet of pipe is yet to be installed into the district's well.

Salesman Freed On Charge Of Check Forging

San Rafael salesman Charles Ashton McDonald, 45, one of two men suspected of forging checks, has been freed of the charge because of insufficient evidence.

The other man, Donald William Bute, 27, an unemployed laborer, waived preliminary hearing and faces prosecution in superior court.

The charge against McDonald was dropped Tuesday, after a preliminary hearing before Judge Leonard A. Thomas in Marin Municipal Court. Deputy Dist. Atty. Thomas T. Storer said the victims were not able to identify McDonald as taking part in a check writing spree with Bute.

San Rafael police said Bute is suspected of forging and passing more than 38 checks.

Development Of Neutron Bomb Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—The underground test caverns in Nevada may be the site for the first tentative experiments on the theory of a neutron bomb —sometimes referred to as a "death ray" bomb—which would kill without leaving wide destruction.

When preliminary field research might start or whether it had begun was a tightly held government secret.

But the theory of an "N-bomb" seemed to suggest that the first step would be to find out whether the nuclear reaction would behave in a test as has been worked out by slide rule, computers and projection of nuclear physics facts.

The theory is that a harnessed nuclear detonation can be made to produce a bust of intense radiation by high-speed, deep-penetration, lethal neutrons—without creating the tremendous shock, intense heat and radioactive contaminations of present nuclear bombs.

Such neutrons, various experts have suggested, could penetrate steel and several feet of concrete. Similar speculation has come from Soviet scientists.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.) who is one of the Congress members urging resumption of U.S. testing in the atmosphere, said yesterday the United States must press "every possible effort to convert the neutron bomb from a theoretical concept to a practical reality."

Dodd said work on the project had gone as far as it could go without testing when the moratorium on tests began in late 1958.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, who also has called for resumption of atmospheric tests, was quoted by the American Broadcasting Co. last night as saying the United States does not have a neutron bomb.

"If we resumed atomic testing tomorrow," he was quoted, "there are six or seven weapons we have to test, and the neutron bomb is not one of them."

Larkspur Council List For Discussion Swells

When Larkspur city councilmen last night started discussing next week's agenda and the list of items started to swell, City Manager Ronald E. Piper declared the city had too many things already going on.

Councilman Lesly A. Daveler started a list of items which could be put on the agenda which included going over the city's restaurant ordinance, and other complicated ordinances, which Piper said could mean hours of study by the city administrative staff.

The city manager said the city already has seven complicated items which is "swamping the office down."

"I see no advantage of getting into these things if we can't carry them through. I would like to see things finished before new ones are started," Piper declared.

Councilman James J. Lienkaemper asked Daveler why he wanted the various items placed on the agenda.

"Just put them on the agenda for discussion," answered Daveler.

The time was approaching midnight and the councilmen were discussing the matter by themselves for the half dozen persons who were in the audience had already gone home. The meeting was finally adjourned with agreement that Piper need not include all Daveler's suggestions for study.

Larkspur Police Chief Clark Gets Pleasant Surprise

Larkspur Police Chief Howard Clark, who though he was asked to attend the Larkspur council meeting last night to discuss a "road matter," was surprised with a gift of a new pistol belt.

Mayor Arthur E. Storhaug made the presentation "on behalf of the residents of Larkspur," for 20 years of service with the police department.

"Sometimes you find yourself without words," said the astonished Clark.

City Manager Ronald E. Piper told Clark yesterday he was needed at the council meeting to "discuss a road problem in the city."

Lynwood Park Unit To Insure Worker

The Lynwood Park Improvement Assn. last night voted to get insurance on its only full-time employee.

It was pointed out at the meeting that the association should carry workmen's compensation insurance on John Whitney, who takes care of the parkway strips on Sunset Parkway.

The association also decided to resume publication of its news letter.

Each person possesses about 44,000 pairs of genes, or heredity carriers.

Council Rejects Plan For Park In Larkspur

The Larkspur City Council will not apply for federal aid toward purchase of Northwestern Pacific Railroad property for a future park.

Councilmen were considering the purchase of the railroad right-of-way property parallel to Holcomb Street for future park use. City manager Ronald E. Piper told the council last night the problem needs "a great deal of study." He said he would go over the possibility of using the property next to Eastman Hall with City Engineer Beverly Whitlow.

Councilman James J. Lienkaemper asked about a trade of property with the railroad but was told by Piper: "We have nothing the railroad is interested in."

Councilmen agreed with Piper that a request for federal aid would be premature until further studies could be made. The council voted unanimously against making application for aid.

The city fathers heard a report from Councilman Neil R. Brixon on Eastman Hall which said, "The place is a filthy mess and I wouldn't want my children going there."

Brixon listed these complaints: (1) brooms prohibit use of back door; (2) A "no dumping sign" is needed in the hall (3) a fire department check is needed (Piper said this had already been done); (4) a storage shed is needed; (5) Trees should be planted outside, and (6) paving should be done before the rains.

The council agreed to inform Bill Gordon, director of the Larkspur-Corte Madera joint recreation commission, to keep the hall cleaned up and consider the building of a storage shed.

The council also:

1. Was informed by Piper that Charles T. Kendall, owner of the Garden Spot Nursery property, had withdrawn his application to have part of the property rezoned from residential to commercial uses after the College of Marin board announced its decision to purchase the property.
2. Held up action on the improvement plans recommended by the city planning commission for the Larkspur Plaza after Piper said plans must be reviewed by the city engineer.
3. Authorized City Clerk Isabelle Moore to sign a contract with the state for an actuarial survey to show costs of an employee retirement.
4. Approved, 3-1, agreement with the county for county contribution to city streets, Councilman Lesly A. Daveler dissenting. Brixon had been excused earlier.
5. Instructed Whitlow to survey Hillview Park subdivision to see if additional curbs are needed to help solve a drainage problem.
6. Voted to release two 10,000-square-foot lots in the Piedmont Terrace subdivision for sale after a soils engineer study is completed.
7. Adjourned the meeting to next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

Recreation Unit To Put In Sprinkler

Grass and a sprinkler system are to be installed on a portion of the five-acre site of the Strawberry Recreation District, secretary Mrs. James W. Gowen said today.

The sprinkling system, approved Monday by trustees, will cost $2,555, with installation done free by fathers of Strawberry Little Leaguers.

A contract has been awarded to Paradise Engineering Construction of Corte Madera for $2,326 to plant grass on two diamonds, one for little league and one for pony league. Cost includes maintenance until grass is established.

Trustees passed a resolution to establish a policy that any purchase of more than $100 must be by competitive bid.

The district is to elect five directors in January to replace the seven trustees, conforming to new state law.

Vet Tax Exemptions Being Used Illegally?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Thousands of veterans may illegally be claiming a $1,000 exemption on property tax, the foreman of the Los Angeles County Grand Jury said yesterday.

Hayden F. Jones said the jury has asked the state Board of Equalization to review veterans' exemption regulations and seek new opinions from Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk.

Jones explained the state constitution provides "that property in the amount of $1,000 owned by a veteran shall be exempt from taxation provided he does not own property of the value of $5,000 or more."

He said the jury questions the county assessor's practice of using the assessed value of a veteran's taxable property as the basis of determining his eligibility for exemption.

With the current assessment rate of 24 per cent, he explained, property assessed at $2,500 or more has a value of more than $10,000.

He said more than 550,000 county veterans saved 34 million dollars in property taxes by claiming the exemption in 1960.

"Whatever portion of this total is undeserved means that much more burden for other taxpayers to carry," he said.

Fading Indian Dialect Taped

WARM SPRINGS, Ore. (AP)—The Warm Springs Indian dialect, closely related to that of the Yakima, Walla Walla and other Western tribes, is being recorded on tape and a dictionary is being compiled.

Delbert Frank, a Warm Springs Indian, is doing the work which he says is complicated by lack of a written language. He is using phonetics in compiling the dictionary.

Frank says there are only a hundred words in common usage but some express a complete thought. He says only the old people use the language now.

'ARMS AND THE MAN'

Group From Cleveland To Play In Sausalito

The Cleveland Playhouse Touring Repertory Company will present three plays this month at the Gate Playhouse in Sausalito, it was announced today by Gate Five Productions, which operates the theater.

The touring company was established three years ago by the Cleveland Playhouse, the oldest professional theater in the United States, according to Deane Cyr, Gate Five Productions manager. It was initiated with a Ford Foundation grant, and is now on a 2,100-mile national tour.

First presentation of the Cleveland company at the Gate Playhouse will be Shaw's "Arms and the Man" at 7:30 p.m. Sunday Nov. 12. This will be followed by "Hedda Gabler" on Nov. 15 and Sean O'Casey's "Pictures in the Hallway" on Nov. 16, both with 8:30 p.m. curtain.

There are only 167 seats in the Gate Playhouse, so advance ticket reservations will be necessary, Cyr said.

This weekend, Gate Five Productions will again present "Hatful of Rain" tomorrow and Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

Sewer Line Inspection Requested

Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District directors Tuesday night asked Albert Lovett Corp. to uncover a portion of the district's main sewer line and inspect it for damage at the South Street site where the firm is constructing 69 luxury apartments.

They also asked the corporation to provide a tunnel to protect the line and provide access to it after construction is completed.

Contractor Mervin E. Collins of El Cerrito asked for time to study the two requests and directors adjourned the matter until Nov. 9 at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

Chairman Loren L. Jay said the district is trying to make sure the line, over which fill has been placed, is not damaged since it has been reported that a portion of the apartments will be built on pilings over the line.

Legislators Suggest Changes Junior Colleges Should Make

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK (UPI) — Two state legislators suggested yesterday changes that junior colleges should make if they want to get increased state support.

The recommendations were made by Sen. Hugo Fisher (D-San Diego) and Assemblyman Richard T. Hanna (D-Garden Grove) at the annual fall conference of the California Junior College Assn.

Fisher, vice chairman of the Senate Education Committee, advocated establishment of basic education standards and uniform accounting practices, staffing and salaries. He urged standardization for admission, probation and disqualification, graduation, vocational curricula, remedial instruction and course content.

Hanna, chairman of the Assembly Education Committee, told delegates they should have when they come to Sacramento attitudes on the place education has to fill in the years ahead. He said there also should be an indication of the educators willingness to do the job.

The assemblyman said financial support then will be forthcoming and there will be "no need for the hat in hand" approach.

Unhappiness was expressed by Hanna for educators talking "about turning out a product like a can of tomatoes." He said current education reflects too much the philosophy of the business world with administrators judged on the number of buildings and staff under them.

Great Chicago Fire Remembered

NEW YORK (UPI) — National Fire Prevention Week always includes Oct. 9, the day in 1871 that the Great Chicago Fire broke out.

The fire, reputed to have been started when a Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over a lantern, killed 250 persons and destroyed 17,430 buildings and other property. Damage was estimated at 175 million dollars.

The first Fire Prevention Day was observed Oct. 9, 1911. President Warren G. Harding proclaimed the first Fire Prevention Week in 1922.

Van Fleet Gives Stevenson Apology

FT. MONROE, Va. (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet has apologized to Adlai E. Stevenson for statements concerning the United Nations ambassador.

The general, who had been quoted as saying he would have fired Stevenson for his role in the ill-fated U.S.-supported Cuban invasion, said last night in a telegram to Stevenson: "My information from several sources regarding Cuba was evidently erroneous."

Van Fleet had been reported as saying Monday night in Lakeland, Fla., that U.S. air cover of the Cuban invasion was called off at Stevenson's insistence. Stevenson telegraphed Van Fleet on Tuesday, asking him to correct what he called a "totally false" statement.

"In view of your telegram, which I am glad to have," Van Fleet replied, "I stand corrected and am sorry for press statements which were, in fact, not accurate and completely out of context."

The Tampa, Fla. Tribune had reported Van Fleet also said Berlin and Laos were lost to communism, there was a 50-50 chance South Viet Nam would be lost and neither West Germany nor France will fight for West Berlin and the United States shouldn't fight for them.

In his telegram to Stevenson, Van Fleet said he had received Stevenson's wire from his Auburndale, Fla., office and that office was forwarding accounts of the meeting from both the Tribune and the Lakeland Ledger.

"I want you to know that the meeting was a small group in closed session and remarks were made in answer to questions submitted by personal friends after my main address covering water resources in Florida, and I was assured there there would be no press coverage," Van Fleet said.

The Tribune, which declined comment on Van Fleet's telegram, disputed the contention Van Fleet spoke out during a question-and-answer period. The Lakeland Ledger had a representative at the meeting but did not publish anything on his remarks, saying Van Fleet's secretary had said it was a closed session.

San Rafael City Hall Study Looks In The Bag

It is a virtual certainty that the City of San Rafael will take a $4,000 step toward a city hall, new or remodeled, next Monday night.

Three of the five city councilmen—Fred Jensen, Louis H. Baar and David Menary Jr.—have said they intend to vote for a "facility planning study" at that price by the planning firm of Ebasco Services Inc.

If a contract is approved, the national firm with offices in San Francisco will undertake an analysis which would study, among other things, the need for a new city hall, space requirements in such a building, determination of a site location if a new building is decided upon, and an evaluation of existing facilities.

City Manager Dan E. Andersen said L. J. Aubrecht, director of the firm's western region, said the study would begin within 30 days after a contract was signed. The work would be completed within 60 days, Aurbecht said.

A contract prepared by the firm is now in the hands of the city attorney for approval and revision if necessary, Andersen said, and will be presented at the Council meeting on Monday at 8 p.m.

Andersen and the three councilmen met recently with representatives of Ebasco and of Griffenhager-Krueger, Inc., which offered a similar service. Each of them indicated that he was impressed with what Ebasco had to offer.

"They talked dollars and cents. I like that approach," said Menary. "I am sure I will vote to give them a contract."

"We will more than make back the money we will spend on such a survey," said Jensen. "This outfit has laid out plans for corporations hiring thousands of people. Overall plans by them would eliminate a lot of second-guessing by each department as to its needs."

Baar said he was almost certain none of the councilmen would vote against the contract. "We have to think in terms of 10 and 20 years that lay ahead of us," he said.

A pungent cigar may repel a stray mosquito. It will not, however, deter a swarm of mosquitoes.

Behr Hurls Charge At Blair —'Dodging Public Debates'

Peter H. Behr, candidate to replace County Supervisor J. Walter Blair in the Dec. 5 recall election, today accused Blair of dodging debates with him.

Behr had agreed to debate with Blair at a public meeting at 8 p.m. today at the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club Hall, sponsored by the club.

In a letter to Mrs. John Borg, the club's program chairman, Behr yesterday wrote: "I have been told, and I find it hard to believe, that Supervisor Blair was advised by his campaign strategists that he should not appear on the same platform with me, and that beginning with your meeting, must find some convenient excuses why this cannot come to pass."

Behr expressed willingness to appear with Blair "at any time your group should select," and suggested the meeting be re-scheduled. "If you wish to hold the meeting with a representative appearing for Supervisor Blair," he added, "then I would like to be extended the same privilege and will ask Stephen Kramer to appear for me."

Mrs. Borg said it was too late to re-schedule the meeting, so it would be held with attorney Albert Bianchi of Sausalito appearing for Blair, and Kramer, Mill Valley real estate man, for Behr.

She said she was informed about two weeks ago by Price Hall, campaign manager for Blair, that the supervisor would be out of town but Bianchi would appear in his stead.

Novato Plans Unit Orders Zoning Study

A restudy of all of the commercial zones in Novato was ordered last night by the Novato Planning Commission at its weekly study meeting on a master plan.

The commissioners discussed the possibility that perhaps they were getting too much area set aside for shopping centers and the downtown commercial area.

So the commission voted to have the county planning staff make a study of existing and proposed shopping area.

The commission granted rezoning of 1.6 acres on South Novato Boulevard from single family residential to administrative-professional, requested by Joseph DeBorba.

Fire Hydrant Slowly Sinking

Marinwood firemen returning from a call yesterday were startled to notice a fire hydrant slowly sinking into the ground at Miller Creek and Idylberry Roads.

Closer inspection by the firefighters, who had just put out a fire in a combination washer-dryer at the home of Harold Johnston of 365 Pinewood Drive, revealed that the street in the vicinity of the hydrant had begun to cave in due to the contraction of the underneath fill.

County maintenance workers this morning began shoring up the road by filling in the vacant space beneath the pavement.

ST. FRANCIS LOSES OUT TO A TREE

The two-foot statue of St. Francis which was destroyed last month in Mill Valley's Lytton Square will be replaced by a tree, city councilmen decided last night.

Suggestions were made to the council for replacing the statute with another St. Francis statue or other works of art by local artists. Granville L. Beedle, secretary-manager of the chamber of commerce, said Herman Hein suggested a tree. Hein is chairman of the tree committee.

"I think we've had enough of St. Francis," Councilman George Blackwell said.

Councilman Michael Wornum said "no one in Mill Valley will go against a tree."

Mill Valley Puts Off Sanitary Fees Action

MILL VALLEY PUTS 114-2 P16...

The Mill Valley City Council continued a proposed amendment in fees to Almonte and Homestead Sanitary District agreements last night until the Almonte board "gets back in shape."

The Almonte district has been without a legal board since Sept. 25 following resignation of Directors Jerome A. Downs and Valerian Skrylov and failure of Director Francis M. Gelardi to attend meetings.

The term "some pumpkins" to designate a person or thing of consequence apparently arose in New York City about a century ago when the public's fancy was taken by "monster pumpkins" displayed at the Crystal Palace.

Preservation Of Tam Eyed In Mill Valley

Mill Valley's proposal to annex 201 acres of land on the eastern slope of Mount Tamalpais is raising complications, the city council learned last night.

One, according to Councilman Michael Wornum, is that "some people have the idea that a great new housing development is to be built."

To declare its policy on the annexation, the council passed a motion saying the annexation program is "to preserve the adjoining areas so that any development that may take place is in conformity with the Mill Valley Master Plan and wishes of our citizens."

Mayor Robert D. Huber said he knows of no development planned for the area.

Chairman Gibbs Lawson of the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission presented another problem when he asked that Mill Valley have joint discussion with county planners and park and recreation commissioners before taking specific action.

Lawson said "we want to keep the slopes of Tamalpais as open area," and said two proposals are now being studied. One is that the county might contract to supervise and maintain recreational facilities within the Marin Municipal Water District. A second is a proposal for a regional park district under study by the Marin Council of Park and Recreation Commissions.

Wornum said developer Harry Johnson has bought 35 acres on the slope from Henry D. Meyer, and has plans to divide it into 7,500-square foot lots.

Aileen Runkle of the county planning staff said Johnson's lots are proposed to be 10,000 square feet. She added that she was in accord with the city's stand. "It is vital to me that the Mill Valley environment be kept in the image we're taking about," she said. The county planning commission on Monday will discuss creating an "open area zone," she reported.

Margaret Hardy, president of the Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn., said "We don't want to see the area develop into 6,000 and 7,500 square foot lots."

The parking situation in the narrow 100 and 200 blocks of Lovell Avenue was resolved by the council, voting that there be no parking at any time between 197 and 221 Lovell or between 208 and 212 Lovell.

The council said it would look into a suggestion of Leland Shain that the speed limit on Lovell be reduced to 15 miles per hour and a stop sign be erected at Lovell and Cornelia avenues.

The council also:

1. Turned down a request by the Salvation Army to place a salvage drop box in one of the city parking lots.
2. Introduced an ordinance permitting payment of payroll warrants prior to audit by council.
3. Approved unanimously a proposed agreement with the county for improvement of the urban thoroughfare system, using a formula whereby each city would get a "fair share" of county gasoline tax funds.
4. Approved warrants totaling $32,717.

Ross Sanitary Unit Grants Extension

A 15-day extension was granted by the Ross Valley District board last night to Berkeley contractor C. Norman Peterson for completion of a $400,000 addition to the district's plant.

Completion had been scheduled for the end of October but a new deadline of mid-November was set because Peterson has suffered unavoidable delays in obtaining materials, he said, due to strikes in eastern manufacturing plants.

When accepted by the board, the plant additions will allow more sewage treatment for Ross Valley as well as Larkspur and Corte Madera.

CHEVROLET

THE NEW CHEVY II
GOING GREAT GUNS!

Chevy II Nova 400 Sport Coupe—and there are 8 more models, just as nifty, where this one came from

This one was on the road to success right from the start. You get a new kind of solid simplicity blended with the economy and dependability you know you can count on from all the Chevrolet family. Beneath the hood . . . a frugal 4- or satiny 6-cylinder engine (there's a choice in most models) that's downright miserly on gas. You can choose from nine new-sized different models . . . sedans, wagons, hardtop and the soon to be available convertible. Like to see and try one? It's easy . . . just follow the crowds.

If you're looking for sensibility at its Sunday best—drop in at your Chevrolet dealer's and join the celebration. It's Chevrolet's golden anniversary year, and this new Chevy II is making it a year to remember. A full line of nifty new models built especially to save you money on service and maintenance. You'll also get Body by Fisher comfort that makes many a full-size car wonder how it's done—room for six solid citizens, bag and baggage, in all sedans and two-seat wagons. And, thanks to new Mono-Plate rear springs, you get a remarkably smooth ride that rivals much higher priced cars.

THANK YOU AMERICA FOR 50 YEARS OF CONFIDENCE

JOIN IN CHEVROLET'S 50th ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION AT YOUR DEALER'S NOW—By picking up a special order form from your dealer, you can order a "Golden Anniversary Album" LP recording of favorite American songs from Chevrolet for just $1. San Rafael Curriculum Unit Gets Started, Has Squabble

The San Rafael Curriculum Study Committee last night elected permanent officers, authorized a parent questionnaire, and scheduled a forum on the subject of reading.

It also staged its first family squabble.

Named permanent chairman by acclamation was H. David Sokoloff of Los Ranchitos, who is employed in the San Francisco architectural and engineering firm of Falk and Booth.

Elected secretary, also without opposition, was Ralph K. Hansen, director of secondary instruction in San Rafael schools.

Prepared by the public pulse subcommittee under the chairmanship of Rev. Llewellyn White, the questionnaire asks parents to give their ideas on eight education areas: (1) Sufficiency of challenge of work, (2) amount of homework, (3) speed of learning, (4) sufficiency of stress on fundamentals, (5) content of courses taught, (6) gearing of studies for above-average and below-average pupils, (7) amount of learning, and (8) promotion and grading procedures.

The questionnaires will not blanket the district, but will be sent to a first grade in a particular school, a second grade in another school and a third grade in yet another—up to and including the sixth grade. Above the sixth grade, the forms will be sent on a basis not yet determined.

Parents will be asked to indicate the sex, grade and age of their child and urged to add suggestions beyond the scope of the eight specific questions. Signatures on the forms are optional.

The subcommittee on existing curriculum, headed by Max Thelen Jr., reported briefly on its recent meeting at which the members named Dr. Mildred B. Barnard, assistant superintendent of elementary instruction, and Hansen to present a report on reading to the next full committee meeting on Nov. 20.

Dr. Bernard will cover the subject through the elementary grades, with Hansen covering high school treatment of the subject.

The committee's first open disagreement on the basic objectives of schools erupted when Thelen referred to a report of the goals subcommittee on the purpose of education as "a morass of 54 admirable virtues."

H. DAVID SOKOLOFF
Heads curriculum study

The report by the subcommittee, chaired by Ralph L. Green was a condensation, Green said, of a State Department of Education bulletin of November, 1950. It listed 54 requirements under four major headings entitled: Objectives of (1) Civic Responsibility, (2) Full Realization of Individual Capacities, (3) Human Relationships, and (4) Economic Efficiency.

"If this report is intended as a catalog, it may serve some useful purpose," Thelen said. "But if it is a statement of educational aims by the board, it is a very poor beginning."

Mrs. Walter Tait, member of the goals subcommittee, said the committee was looking at "over-all goals for our high school graduates."

"These are goals of total education," she said.

"We are concerned with school education," answered Mrs. Charles G. Strom.

"Do you disagree with the four major objectives?" Rev. White asked Thelen.

"I think it is idle to talk of goals of education," Thelen answered. "You can argue that very little bad is taught in schools. I think it is a question of a lack of emphasis on any of the 54 goals."

Among the 54 objectives were "place human relationships first," "maintain democratic relationships in the family and in all other group situations," "plan the economics of his own life," "exercise skill in homemaking," "speak, read and write English effectively," "respect the law," "accept honest differences of opinion," and "develop a sense of humor."

"Do you think schools should only prepare students academically?" Hugh Paterson, San Rafael High School teacher, asked of Thelen.

"Would you object to a person who had acquired all these goals?" asked Green.

"If any person came out with all these qualities I think he would be an impossible freak," said Paul Haerle. "These are ideals. How many of them can we include as goals of education?"

"I think it is the other way around," said Paterson. "How many of them can we work into our curriculum? is more correct."

The goals subcommittee members reiterated that the initial listing was simply something the committee came up with after all of them had expressed their ideas. A more comprehensive report would follow after the full committee had aired its views, they said.

"We are happy to get your points of view," Paterson said.

"I feel it was a very worthwhile discussion," said Thelen, an attorney.

Attending the meeting were Bella H. Aaron, member of the board of education, and Bert C. Corona, newly-hired superintendent spending his first day on the job, who spoke briefly to the committee. Absent was Dr. Barnard, who was out of the city on school business.

More Halloween Vandalism Told

More vandalism that took place Halloween night was reported to San Rafael police yesterday.

Mrs. Mary E. Molander of 2247 Fifth Avenue said she found insulting words painted on the garage and on a small truck, and both tail light assemblies stolen from her husband's car.

Mrs. Rose Harris of 381 Forbes Avenue reported her husband was able to scrub their windows clean of markings made with dark blue crayon but was unable to remove "two four-letter choice" words from the front of their house and consequently would have to repaint it.

White Superiority Study Planned By Alabama Prof

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — The State of Alabama, seeking a new legal weapon in its efforts to preserve segregation, is financing a scientific study aimed at proving Negroes are mentally inferior to whites.

Attorney Ralph Smith, who represents Gov. John Patterson in all racial litigation, said yesterday that $3,000 was drawn from the governor's emergency fund to pay for the study.

Smith said a detailed anthropological study has been undertaken by Dr. Wesley C. George of the University of North Carolina school of medicine. He said George agreed in February to devote his full attention to the study during his three-month summer vacation.

"It is my feeling, and one shared by Governor Patterson, that we should explore every avenue in our efforts to preserve racial segregation," Smith said. He noted that many Southerners believe the Negro to be mentally inferior to whites but think that science has proved this is not true.

"Actually, scientific data supports the contention that the white race, intellectually, is superior to the Negro, and that is the point we seek to make with this study," he said.

Marin Bay Signs Found Torn Down

Signs advertising Marin Bay Co. were found torn down early today on San Pedro Road between Knight Drive and Biscayne Drive, San Rafael police reported.

In the same area a "35-mile speed zone" sign and a mail box were found ripped up and lying respectively on Knight Drive and Biscayne Drive. Also signs directing motorists to the Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club were found on the ground, the night watchman said.

Veterans Day Youth Fete Set At HAFB

Parade, Displays, Air Show Will Be Order Of The Day

Parades, displays and aerial demonstrations will highlight the second annual youth festival commemorating Veterans Day, Nov. 11, at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Gates open at 8:30 at Hamilton for the young people and their parents. At 9 a. m. there will be a short parade of youth organizations and veterans groups.

This will be followed by a massing of the colors at 10 a.m. The 753rd Air Force band will furnish the music for both the parade and massing of the colors.

Theme will be "Air Force Fighters, Past and Present."

A Jennie will represent World War I fighters. World War 11 fighter displays will feature the P-1, P-47 and P-38.

These will be brought up to date with F-101B, F-102 and F-106, supersonic jet aircraft now being used by the Air Force. Personal equipment of the past and present will also be on display.

The Air Force Thunderbirds will put on a 40-minute show. These "Ambassadors in Blue," working as a precision drill team, put their planes through maneuvers which include rolls, loops, whifferdills, corkscrew changeovers and cloverleaf turns.

The show will be done at low altitudes and within one mile radius of the show area so the audience can see each maneuver.

The team fly with their wingtips overlapping three feet and separate vertically by only "broomstick clearance."

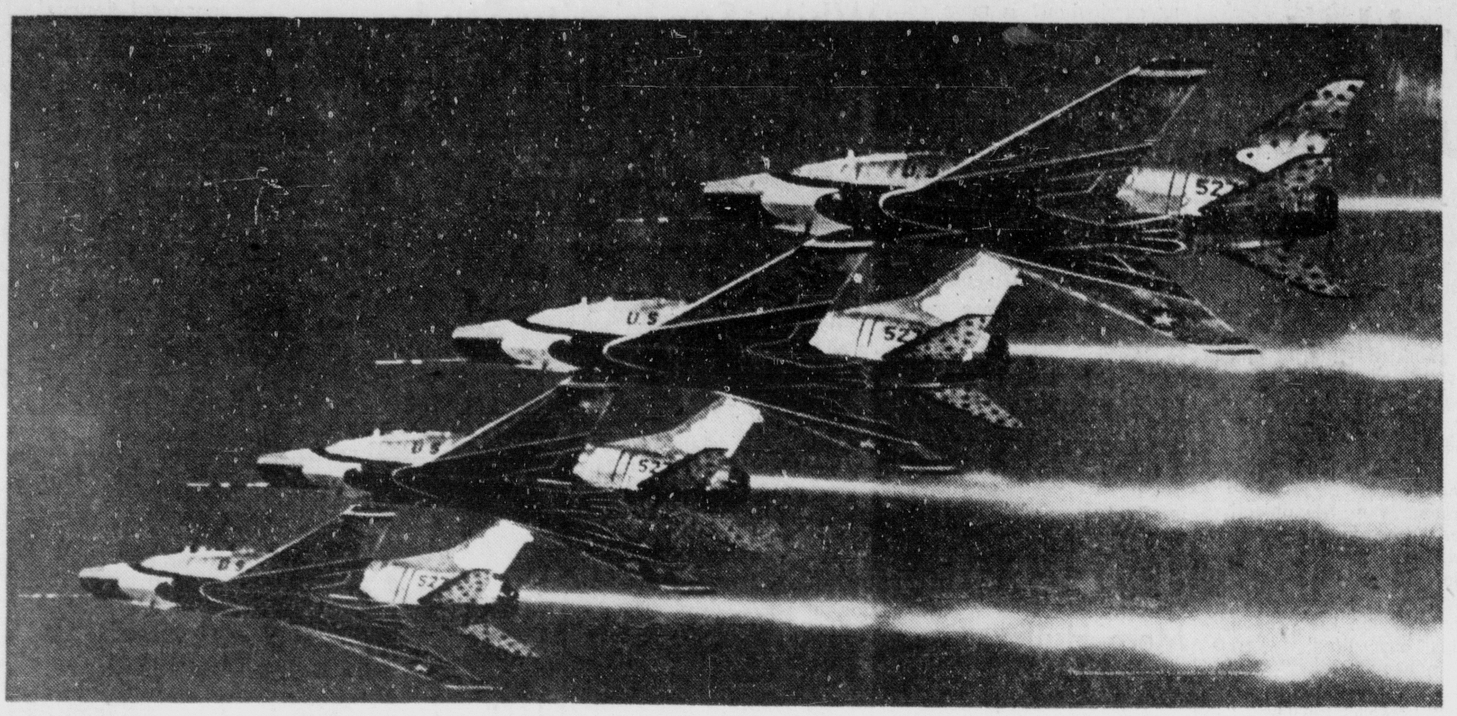
The pilot in a single F-100 times his maneuvers between those of the four airplanes flying in diamond formation. He keeps the show moving with a clashing routine of low-altitude solo aerobatics.

Climax comes when the Thunderbirds do the famous "Bomb Burst." In this the planes in the diamond formation climb vertically in front of the audience and then break away, with a roar from their afterburners, to the four points of the compass.

Then, trailing white smoke like a bursting skyrocket, they dive for the ground, approaching the field from four directions, and cross head-on at speeds up to 700 miles per hour.

The youth festival is sponsored by the Marin County Veterans Assn., Novato Rotary Club, Novato Kiwanis Club and Hamilton Air Force Base. Col. C. S. Turner of the 78th Fighter Wing is in charge.

There is no admission charge. Plenty of parking will be furnished, Colonel Turner said. Refreshments booths will be located in various parts of the area.



AEROBATICS—The Thunderbirds, Air Force precision aerial drill team which performs breathtaking sky maneuvers, is seen in close formation from which aerobatics are performed. The Thunderbirds will be featured on a Veterans Day "Youth Festival" program at Hamilton Air Force Base. (Air Force photo)

Larkspur Girl, 15, Injured In Crash

A 15-year-old Larkspur girl was injured yesterday when the car in which she was riding hit a parked automobile on Bolinas Avenue in Ross, just over the city line from San Anselmo.

The driver, Gary Peck, 17, of 925 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, swerved to avoid an oncoming car and hit an auto owned by Douglas Ramsey, parked in front of the Ramsey home at 101 Bolinas Avenue, reported Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani of San Anselmo.

Injured was Nancy Lorraine Nicholson of 30 Millard Avenue, Larkspur. She was treated at Marin General Hospital for cuts on the right temple.

Peck was cited for driving without an operator's license.

Marin Firm Files For Incorporation

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan announced a Marin County real estate development firm, Seven Hills Properties, Inc., has filed articles of incorporation with his office, to be capitalized at $200,000 in $20 par shares.

Directors of the company were listed as Irene Kazakes, 1810 Vistazo West, Tiburon, and Hugh G. Lawrence, 429 Johnson Street, and Maxine Wilson, 80 Harrison Street, both Sausalito.

Hill Haven Unit Meeting Slated

The Hill Haven Property Owners Assn. nominating committee will meet at 8:30 p.m. next Thursday at the home of Mrs. Victor C. Banks, present acting chairman, at 1805 Lagoon View Drive, Tiburon, to nominate new officers.

Mrs. Banks said William S. Johnstone of 601 Ridge Road heads a group anxious to provide Tiburon with a community fallout shelter. Such a shelter was discussed last night at a membership meeting at the home of Albin Dittli, 1885 Mountain View Drive, she reported.

Eaton Estate Valued At $360,000

Florence Eaton Bennett, 69, who died at her Larkspur home on Oct. 2, left an estate valued at $360,000, according to a petition for probate filed in Marin Superior Court yesterday.

The petition, filed by Bank of America National Trust and Savings Assn., says her property at 101 Baltimore Avenue is worth $22,000, and she had securities and other miscellaneous property worth $340,000.

Her will, dated June 24, 1960, names two cousins, Aletha Carter of San Rafael and Elmer McPhillips of Stockton as the chief beneficiaries. She also names several other beneficiaries, including Marin County Humane Society and the Guide Dogs for the Blind, each receiving $5,000.

The will leaves nothing for her husband Don Bennett, whom she sued for divorce in April of last year. The will states that she and Bennett entered into a property settlement in May of that year, and she had since disinherited him.

9 TARS ON ACADEMIC PROBATION

Just as the underdog College of Marin Tars are starting to harvest in the Golden Valley Conference it looks like rain.

In the midst of elation over upsetting the conference's favorites, Yuba College, last weekend, Tar first-year coach Dick Read has been hit with news that may seriously hamper the Marin team's hope for a crack at the 1961 title. Read learned yesterday that nine players have been placed on academic probation and may be ineligible for the remainder of the year.

While any of the nine could be returned to good graces at any time, it is likely that all will miss the coming Napa contest.

NAMES WITHHELD

To protect the interests of the players concerned and because any of them could be restored to eligibility at any time, we do not feel it proper to release their names," said Harry Pieper, director of athletics.

Read, meanwhile, is making lineup adjustments in readiness for Napa. "What can I say," Read declared, "All of the boys will, of course, continue to work out as usual. We've just got to hope for the best."

EXCITING WIN

Fortunes of the Tars soared last week when they caught a highly favored Yuba College squad in the closing minutes and pulled ahead to score an exciting 21-20 conference victory.

Now 1-1 in league play and 3-3 on the season, the team again takes to the road to meet Napa Junior College at Napa tomorrow night.

At this point Golden Valley Conference standings fix Sierra College, which beat Marin 20-18 two weeks ago, in first place with two wins and no losses. Yuba is in second with a 2-1 record and Marin shares third spot with Shasta College. Next in line is Napa Junior College with one win and two losses and American River Junior College with no victories and two losses.

It'll Be Shotgun Vs. 'Twin'

By HAL WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The days of straight-ahead, plough 'em under football in the pro leagues may be just a thing of the past.

Red Hickey of the San Francisco 49ers opened the way with his wide-open shotgun attack. The New York Giants tried a variation of it last week. The Baltimore Colts took a shot at it.

And now coach George Wilson of the Detroit Lions has one he calls the "Twin Spread." Not a very colorful name, but if it works, as it did on occasion against Los Angeles last week, it could become the most popular of the new attacks.

There are only two backs in the backfield instead of the customary four in this offense —it says here.

Quarterback Jim Ninowski calls the signal and takes the ball from center just as in the T formation. The only man around him aside from the line is fullback Nick Pietrosante. If this sounds as though there is a shortage of blocking, consider the fact that Pietrosante gained 112 yards in 21 carries against Los Angeles last week.

The main advantage, however, is inserting four pass-catchers into the lineup—and they are spread all over the field—nearly from sideline to sideline. There can only be seven men on the line. But end Glen Davis, the Olympic hurdles champion, spreads 'way out to the left; and halfback Terry Barr spreads out to the right. Gail Cogdill, one of the top ends in the league, plays about two yards back of the line, but inside right end Jim Gibbons.

That gives Ninowski four fine receivers racing every whichway down field. It paid off to the tune of 249 aerial yards for the Lions in the last outing—the best they have done since 1958 when Tobin Rote connected for 255 yards.

According to Bud Erickson, advance man for the Lions, Wilson wanted to get Davis into the lineup, but already had such great ends as Cogdill and Gibbons in there.

Wilson plans to stick with this formation until he gets inside the 49er 20-yard line. Then he'll switch to the conventional T-formation.

If Hickey sticks to the shotgun and Wilson to his "twin spread," the spectators in Kezar stadium on Sunday are going to need two pairs of binoculars to keep track of the players. They'll be spread from sideline to sideline—and it may be hard to tell who's in the game and who's sitting on the bench.

Hornung To Play Next Two Green Bay Games

CHICAGO (UPI) — Paul Hornung, Green Bay Packers' halfback, was due to be released from a Naval hospital today and join the football team for its next two games.

Hornung has undergone a series of examinations at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station in efforts to determine his physical condition for active Army service. His call was delayed because of a pinched nerve in his neck.

Hornung's physical examination was completed yesterday. He is a "free man" until Nov. 14 when he is to report to the 896th Engineering Co. at Fort Riley, Kan.

Results of Hornung's examination will be forwarded to 5th Army Headquarters, Chicago, for an evaluation of his physical qualifications for active service, an Army spokesman said.

"It is expected this determination will be made between now and his scheduled reporting date," he said.

Joe Louis Wants To Stage Match

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Former world's heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis has asked the Coliseum Commission to permit him to stage a middleweight fight involving Sugar Ray Robinson in November in the Sports Arena.

Coliseum Commissioners said Louis first would have to obtain permission for the fight from the State Athletic Commission.

Louis' request was contained yesterday in a telegram to the commission. It did not say who Robinson's opponent would be, but local boxing authorities believed it might be Peter Mueller of Germany.

Backs' Running Skill Makes Big Impression

The Tigers play the Idaho Vandals in Moscow Saturday.

WEEKEND FOOTBALL

San Rafael Can Help Novato Clinch Crown

San Rafael High can do its cross-country rivals — Novato High — a big favor tomorrow night.

The Bulldogs can make the Novato Hornets the 1961 Marin County Athletic League football champions by beating Sir Francis Drake High School. A Bulldog victory will give Drake a 2-2, won-loss, record, thus if Novato which now has a 3-0 record loses both of its next two games it can do no worse than tie for the championship. If the Hornets win along with San Rafael, the north Marinites alone will reign as king.

On the other hand Drake can do itself a big favor by whipping San Rafael. This would give the Pirates 3-1 record and keep them in contention for the crown.

The game will be at San Rafael with the kickoff scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Other games tomorrow are the College of Marin at Napa, 8 p.m., and Terra Linda at Lincoln High School in San Francisco at 3:30 p.m.

Saturday Novato will face Marin Catholic at Novato at 2 p.m., and Redwood clashes with Tamalpais at Kentfield at the same time. That same day at 10:30 a.m., the San Rafael Military Academy will play its toughest opponent this season, Lick Wilmerding High in San Francisco. Tomales battles at Clearlake at 1 p.m.

Hickey Is Not Surprised Brickbats Are Flying His Way From 'Pundits'

HANLEY

Red Hickey took the bows for the Shotgun when it was the early season sensation of the NFL and now, to his credit, he isn't bleating alibis as the second-guessing-I-told-you-so-boys are bracketing him with brickbats.

In fact, when Hickey was the early season hero of the hour he was the first to point out: "I'm being congratulated now but if the Shotgun failed I'd be the one criticized."

It is just a trifle nauseating to read some of the stuff now pouring in great quantities from the always omniscient tip-of-the-peninsula pundits. Where was their infallible wisdom when NFL coaches were desperately diagramming anti-Shotgun defenses?

If the Shotgun was as old and musty as the johnny-come-latelys now are claiming why did it take the NFL coaches so long to catch up with it? After all, Hickey introduced it a year ago but it wasn't until two weeks ago in Chicago that an effective 5-2-4 defense was thrown at it by Clark Shaughnessy.

With all due respect to Shaughnessy's defensive genius, he did have the advantage of knowing that several trial-and-error setups were ineffective, including the standard 4-3-4 defense and a 4-2-5.

Shaughnessy did something no other coach had done. He reinforced the four-man line and put a fifth man right up on the forward wall, sacrificing the standard middle linebacker spot. It worked. So Pittsburgh's Steelers copied it last Sunday and it worked again.

The five-man line definitely has plugged the middle through which Bill Kilmer had been running. That is obvious. But it also has given slightly different slanting shots past 49er blockers by the other four enemy linemen in their big rush at the quarterback. This is the primary reason offensive blocking in the 49er line looked pitiful in Chicago and not much better in Pittsburgh.

Hickey knows this and now so does every other NFL coach. If he feels he can make the necessary adjustments to salvage his Shotgun, Hickey certainly will do so. Meanwhile, he is keeping Detroit in the dark about whether it will be the Shotgun or T offense, or a combination of both, next Sunday in Kezar.

Tam Halfback Named TV Prep Of Week

A junior halfback, Warren Domino of Tamalpais High School, will be awarded this week's "TV Prep Player of the Week" plaque by KGO-TV for his outstanding game performance on offense and defense in last Saturday's telecast of the Indians' narrow 19-12 victory over the stubborn Wildcats of Marin Catholic.

Domino is one of his school's most versatile athletes. He holds the school record in the 50-yard dash of 5.5 seconds, was decathlon champion of the sophomore class, plays basketball and runs the 100 yard dash for the track team.

In the game with Marin Catholic, Domino was instrumental in stopping several of the Wildcats' drives with his alert defensive play.

PREP BACKFIELDER — Don Scribner, Novato Hornet quarterback, has been selected "Prep of the Week" by the Independent-Journal and Radio KTIM for leading his team to victory over Sir Francis Drake last Saturday. (Independent-Journal photo)

PREP LINEMAN — Mark Pearce, Redwood Giant guard, has been selected "Prep of the Week" by the Independent-Journal and Radio KTIM for his outstanding play in his team's defeat of San Rafael last weekend. (Harold Mathias photo)

'PREPS OF THE WEEK'

Quarterback Scribner, Guard Pearce Honored

Don Scribner, Novato Hornet quarterback, and Mark Pearce, Redwood Giant guard, have been selected for "Prep of the Week" honors by the Independent-Journal and Radio KTIM.

Scribner was instrumental with his running and skilled signal calling to guide his team to a key and decisive victory over the threatening Sir Francis Drake Pirates last Saturday afternoon.

Pearce, as a lineman, played outstanding football last Friday and sparked his team to its best defensive effort this season. The result was an upset of the San Rafael Bulldogs.

Scribner, 17, has lettered in varsity basketball and baseball at Novato and is a former little leaguer who got his first taste of high pressure sports traveling to Utah with his Novato team to represent Marin in a contest. The six foot, one inch, 165 pound senior enjoys other outdoor activities. Among them are waterskiing, fishing, hunting and boating.

A former I-J carrier boy, Scribner was born in Oakland. He has resided with his family in Novato for the past 11 years. His father, Ronald J. Scribner is a flight instructor for Pan American World Airways in San Francisco. He has a brother, Darryl, 5, and a sister, Linda, 10. The family residence is 715 Sutro Avenue.

Don has considered teaching language and coaching in high school as a career, but also has a keen interest in mechanical drawing. He has completed two years of High school Latin and presently is an "A" student in Russian at Novato High.

Last summer Don worked in a restaurant in the Sierras.

The quiet, but friendly athlete is president of Boys League and a member of the Key Club at the high school. He is also a member of the Novato Presbyterian Church.

Pearce, a five foot, 11 inch senior guard has two loves above football. They are baseball and fishing. Mark is considering a "dream" career and a practical career, and may wisely follow the latter. He would like to try for a berth in professional baseball (he plays first base for Redwood). Or he may try to become a high school mathematics teacher. Both occupations would allow him some fishing time. Regardless, Mark wants to attend Northwestern University, where he will apply this month.

Marks' other high school activity is also strenuous—he is running for basketball cheerleader. Mark is described as "outgoing" and having an ability to express himself well.

During this past summer Pearce worked at Country Club Bowl in San Rafael.

He lives at 444 William Avenue and Larkspur, and is the son of Lorraine and Harry B. Pearce. His father is head auditor for the Spreckles Sugar Co. of San Francisco. Mark's brother, Jeff, is a 21-year-old Navy veteran attending the College of Marin. He was an outstanding gridder for Tamalpais High School.

Corte Madera Lady Gets 50th Copy Of My Tasty Bass Chowder Recipe

STEVENS

When ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise, some old time philosopher wise-cracked. The quotation proved correct last Sunday. The wise guys stayed home with their families; the ignoramuses went fishing.

Winds up to 60 miles an hour churned the Bay and Delta waters. It was cold and blustery and mighty uncomfortable. As one resort operator stated it: "A person would have been out of his mind to try and fish in such weather."

Well, a flock of mindless people did go out in skiffs or cast their offerings from a dock or shore. Take a look at some authentic reports of what happened to the foolish ones:

Several hardy souls armed themselves with bullheads and dropped them into the murky waters off the fishing pier at Joseph's at Rodeo. Five bass from seven to 13 pounds were taken. Two local lights tried fishing from the rocks south of the pier. Results—two limits of striped bass from 10 to 21 pounds. One couple, Bruce Warnock and his wife, managed to launch a rowboat and fished about 100 yards out from the wharf. They took a terrific beating from the wind and waves and one eight and one 15 pound striper.

Early Monday morning I checked with Joe Navarro of the Sportsmen's Center to get the lowdown on how the bass derby panned out. I expected, of course, that a few fish would have been caught on Saturday, but practically none on the second day of the derby, Sunday. Yet of the ten prizes awarded, eight of them were fish caught on Sunday. Top fish was taken by Arnold Wardell near West Island (near the Antioch Bridge) and weighed 17 pounds, 2 ounces. B. Marino came second with an even 17 pounder caught in Montezuma Slough. Harold Jarvis had 4th prize with a 16 pounder landed from shore near the San Mateo Bridge. The three Fone brothers did their stuff in the Suisun Bay. K. S. Fone registered a 15 pound bass, Harry Fone, weighed in one of 13 pounds and James Fone landed an 11½ pounder. Norman Ricardo copped the third prize for his 16¼ pound striper caught on Saturday in False River. Al DeSanti took a 14 pounder in the same area, on Saturday, also. The 9th and 10th weights were the same. Both taken in the Delta region and weighed in at an even 10 pounds on Sunday. The catchers—Del McCoy and Jim Battershell.

THERE IS NO question but what the bass are moving upstream to the spawning grounds. Those figures I quoted are only of the prize fish, each of the winners had other fish as well.

I just received a short note from Mrs. Carrie Phillips of McAvoy. She enclosed a snapshot of two limits of fish taken by Johnnie Tank and Arnold Monterio. Beautiful fish running from 10 to 20 pounds. Carrie Phillips reported good fishing in Honker Bay, the Middlegrounds, Snag Island and the Suisun Cutoff.

Checking back, I learned that while all the fish taken Sunday in the Rodeo district were taken on bullheads, only three of the Derby winners used bullheads, the rest were all caught on sardines.

If it happens that you are interested in winning a prize in a bass derby, taken notice that the Reel Rod Benders will stage one—open to all comers—starting on Nov. 11. For full particulars and a ticket, contact Hayward Fisheries, Ed DeCosta. The week between Nov. 11 and 19 should be one of the best bass fishing periods of the year in the Bay and Delta Regions.

This is the night when District Council No. 3 gets together with District Council No. 7 at the Lake Merced Sports Center, Harding Park, San Francisco. All delegates are expected to attend this semi-annual get-together. A good program is on tap, and you still have time to get in the old bus and drive over.

AN UNVERIFIED report just came in of bass being seen and caught in the shallow waters on the Marin side of the Bay. No verification, but it sounds kosher to me. I have an idea there will be action continually in that entire sector from now until the end of November.

Must be a flock of epicures who have a yen to try out my bass chowder recipe. Just received a request from Mrs. Emily Johnson of Corte Madera. It makes the 50th recipe I have sent out. Necessitated typing out a new batch. If you wish one send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and I'll oblige.

So that's it for today. See you tomorrow. Adios!

MARIN BOWLING ROUNDUP

BVL Singles Classic Starts For Ladies

The Marin County Women's Bowling Assn. announced yesterday as the beginning of the Bowler's Victory Legion fund raising tournament, sponsored by the Woman's International Bowling Congress.

Better known as the BVL Singles Classic Tournament, it is held annually with all proceeds going to help rehabilitate war veterans in state veterans' hospitals.

Lady entries may contribute $1 to compete. Five women bowlers will be selected to represent the MCWBA in the state finals in Sacramento at Mardi Gras Lanes next March. Last year's state champion in the class E division was Mrs. Sharon Miller of Corte Madera.

A 67-year-old athlete caused some excitement at Marin Bowl last week. George Hogan of Troy, Ohio, burned in a 692—209-228-255. He is visiting his son, George Hogan Jr. at 33 Bolanos Drive, San Rafael. In prior days, Hogan senior bowled a five-game series of 1,320, 264 average per game. Unfortunately it was during the days of radio.

Some fair series, by comparison, were turned in on other efforts. Ladies Marilyn Epidendio of Greenbrae Lanes and Jackie Newsom of Nave Lanes starred. Marilyn rolled a 211-235—597 series and Jackie a 596—224-204.

At Country Club A. Crane, bowling in the 900 Classic, racked up a 628, at Nave in the Marin Masters, Walt Silva, a 626. Silva scored the highest game announced around the county in his series: 255. At the same alley in the Loma Verde League, J. Coen ripped off a 244.

Here are other scores from around the county:

College Basketball Will Have New Rules

NEW YORK (AP)—Three new rules and a code of conduct for coaches will be in effect when the college basketball seasons open next month.

The changes were recommended by the National Association of Basketball Coaches and adopted by the National Basketball Committee of the U.S. and Canada last March.

They will:

1. Eliminate free throws when a foul is called against a player on offense and in control of the ball. The fouled team will be given possession of the ball out of bounds as is now done in the professional leagues.

2. Stop the clock after every violation in order to give coaches greater opportunity to make substitutions.

3. Create a neutral and buffer zone along the free throw lane to separate the first and second players by a foot when they line up for free throws. The rule makers felt this would tend to lessen shoving.

Under the new conduct act, officials are instructed to penalize coaches or players on the bench who persist in stomping, throwing towels or committing other acts considered unsportsmanlike.

Golf Results In From Marin

Here are other winners of flights in the Marin Golf Club championship won by Maj. Robert Evans of Hamilton Air Force Base last weekend.

First flight — Jim Lange d. Gordon Wardlaw, 2 up; second flight—Dr. Richard Albert d. Col Robert Tweedie, 2 and 1; third flight—O. D. Oliphant d. William Elliott, 1 up; fourth flight Sil DeMaestri d. Chuck Swenson, 2 up; fifth flight—Jerry Hoytt d. Dismo Scatana, 2 and 1; sixth flight—Richard Bibbero d. Dr. Judson Macby, 1 up.

Cal Is 'Really' Up For UCLA Tilt

BERKELEY (AP) — A statement by UCLA Coach Bill Barnes last year after UCLA beat California may come back to haunt him Saturday—the California Bears hope.

"The boys are really up for this one," said quarterback and defensive standout Larry Baillett Wednesday. "We have been pointing to this game ever since Barnes said last year that his team out-hit ours.

Raiders Outdoormen Are Doing Better But In The Front Office: Turmoil

OAKLAND (UPI) — Things were looking up on the playing field for the Oakland Raiders today, but the front office situation was bleaker than ever.

Offensive line stars center Jim Otto and guard Wayne Hawkins were both declared ready for action Sunday when the Raiders play at Buffalo. Offensive guard Willie Smith, recovering from a knee injury, was given a 50-50 chance of seeing action.

The Raider running offense has been stopped cold for the past two weeks and passer Tom Flores has been harassed by charging linemen since the heart of the offensive wall has been injured.

Meanwhile, Wayne Valley and Ed McGah, two of the three main stockholders in the Raiders, said yesterday that they will play no more games in San Francisco after this year.

Furthermore, said Valley, the owners have no intention of putting out the estimated $250,000 needed to reconvert several East Bay sites into a stadium capable of holding 20,000 fans.

"Oakland fans won't support us as long as we play in San Francisco," Valley said bluntly. "We've had it there. If we can't find a place to play in Oakland, we'll move the franchise."

The team lost $327,000 in 1960 and figures to lose slightly more in 1961 after drawing only 25,831 total paid admissions in its five home games thus far.

The city is rushing completion of an 18-million-dollar stadium geared to seat 50,000, but it is not expected to be ready until 1963 or 1964.

Marin Racers

The racing team of Stoke and Azevedo of San Rafael are expected to be among the teams racing more than 200 cars and cycles competing at the Vaca Valley Raceway in Oakland Sunday. Trials begin at 9 a.m., races at 2 p.m.

Terra Linda Gets Grid Commissioner

Jack Benjamin, Marin County Pop Warner football commissioner, today named Donald B. Anderson as commissioner of the league's Terra Linda team.

Anderson, a former coach in the league for two years, is the assistant manager of the San Rafael office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. He is a resident of 312 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia.

IN COSTUMES from past shows are members of the Novato Community Club who will present "Fling Back Flash" on Friday and Saturday and Nov. 10 and 11 at 8 p.m., at the club in Novato. A number of Novato artists will perform and dancing will follow the production from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m. From left are Mesdames James L. Walton, Willard Denny and Alex Consagra.

Fling Back Flash

Final plans are being made for the production of "Fling Flash Back" to be presented by the Novato Community Club at the Club on Friday and Saturday and again Nov. 10, 11 at 8 p.m.

The theme of the show is taken from the acts to be repeated from past fling shows. Novato artists to perform include Jane Nickols, Beverly Wahl, Bob Patterson, Dee Colombo and the Barber Shop Quartet.

The Nightsounds will play for dancing from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m. Guests are encouraged to wear costumes from other flings as the beatnik, hillbilly, spring tonic, Arabian and flapper.

Mrs. Roland Brown is the producer.

Reservations may be made with Mesdames Robert Yount or Alex Consagra.

Junior Theatre Plans Social Event

Junior Theatre of Marin will have its annual social event Nov. 14 at the San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere when it presents its "sherry tea," a noon luncheon and discussion of the year's program.

Invitations have been sent to members and friends of the countywide organization, which presently has units in Sleepy Hollow, Belvedere-Tiburon, and Ross - Kentfield - Greenbrae. Women interested in joining or forming new units are invited to attend. Mrs. Burton Milnes, tea chairman, is taking reservations.

Mrs. Wallace Painter, president, has announced that the tea will serve as an organization kick-off for the year's program. New units will be formed, unit members may meet and new members will learn about the year's plans.

This year's winter program will bring to Marin five professional plays, chosen from the entertainment suitable for children.

A morning and matinee performance will be given five Saturdays during the season at the San Rafael High School. The times are 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m.

This year's winter program consists of the following: Jan. 6, the Lesselli Marionettes will play "Sleeping Beauty"; Jan. 20 the Castle Court Players will offer "Rumplestiltskin"; on Feb. 3, the San Francisco Players Guild will play "Beauty and the Beast"; on Feb. 24, Actor's Workshop will put on "The Brave Little Taylor"; and the final play will be presented by the newly formed adult women's group, "The Masque Unit," offering "The Pale, Pink Dragon," March 24.

The Summer Workshop gives Marin County children the chance to participate in all phases of putting on a play under the guidance of a professional director. The workshop is free to all children in Marin County. Again the plays are chosen from the classics.

The new officers of Marin County Junior Theatre are Mesdames Painter, president; Irving Lipschultz, vice president; Arthur Talbot, Richard Stock and Mrs. Cornelius van Vliet, corresponding secretary; Burton Milnes, recording secretary.

Clayton Drews Hosting Large Shipboard Party On Monterey

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Aboard the Monterey before it sails tomorrow the Clayton L. Drews of Corte Madera are hosting a party for 40 of their friends. Among their guests will be Marinites the Sam Gunnisons, Porter Griffiths, Lin Hinkles, Charles Owens, Thomas Prings, Ralph Higginses and Mrs. Edna Kraft.

The Drews, who will be gone three months, are cruising on five different ships so they can stop in several important ports to see surrounding country. The Drews were in Hawaii four times when he was in charge of outings for the Sierra Club. Clayton has friends in all parts of the world as for many years he headed his own division in the United States State Department. He was U.S. representative for the Bureau of Foreign Agents of the War Trade Board. He also served in an advisory capactiy on special committees and is now a patent attorney in San Francisco.

The Monterey will sail from Pier 35 in San Francisco, for New Zealand and Australia. The Drews will remain in Svdney, Australia for three weeks. Then aboard the Oceania they will said to Melbourne, spending Christmas at sea. Then they will go to Freemantle, with the New Year's observance on shipboard. The Drews will sail to the northwest coast of Java and stay in Djakarta, Indonesia, for a short time and then go to Singapore. There they will board the Tegelberg for the cruise to Hong Kong.

The Corte Madera couple will be there about a week and then board the President to go to Kobe, Japan. From there they'll motor to Tokyo for a stay of another week. They'll sail from Yokohama aboard the President Cleveland to Honolulu and San Francisco.

THE THOMAS MINTOS of Kentfield are entertaining a group of friends at a dinner at their home Saturday night. It will be a farewell party, as Helen and Tom are leaving in mid-November to winter in their home in the desert. They generally spend four months or more at their place at Indio but this year they will be away only three months.

EAGERLY AWAITING the arrival of their son are Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Davies who expect to entertain several groups of his pals after he returns to their home on the Belvedere Lagoon Nov. 14. Robert Davies Jr., following his graduation from Stanford University served two years in the Navy with a tour of duty in Japan. His parents, and his 7-year-old brother, James Davies, visited him in the Orient last year. June 17 of this year on Bob's 24th birthday, he received his honorable discharge from the Navy with rank of lieutenant junior grade, and began a world tour. He went to the Philippines and India. He stayed several weeks in Bombay with an attorney and his wife, parents of a college classmate. He then went to Indonesia, Bangkok, capital of Thailand, Siam, Greece, Italy, where he saw most of the large cities and visited the Stanford campus. He also went to East and West Berlin, the Netherlands, France and England. He will go to New York and after a short time there will be home.

DR. AND MRS. ROBERT BOWIE have just returned to their apartment at the Garden of Allah in Mill Valley for the winter season. They spent the summer at their home in Fort Morgan, Colo., where they entertained a number of visitors.

Other highlights of the summer included attending the medical convention at Mackinac Island, Mich., the national American Legion Convention in Denver, and Dr. Bowie's 50th class reunion at the University of Michigan.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL D. CASE, have returned from their two months' trip to the Scandinavian countries and the British Isles. They flew from New York over the Pole and did much of their traveling by car in the countries they visited. The return trip was made in the same manner.

Religious Art Is Subject For Club

Vivi Blanque, past president of the Catholic Art Forum, will discuss contemporary religious are in everyday living at the Nov. 8 meeting of the Mount Carmel Women's Club in Mill Valley's Mount Carmel School.

A native San Franciscan, Miss Blanque studied at the College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland, in the art department of Immaculate Heart College, as well as in Paris. Her work has been exhibited throughout the country.

The artist's talk will be a preview of the book and art fair which will take place later in the month, planned to stimulate interest in the forthcoming festival.

Halloween Party

A no-host Halloween party was given at the home of George L. Silver in Terra Linda recently when guests gathered for dancing and games. Guests came in costume and later enjoyed pizza and musical entertainment.

By Whose Standards Is Flavor Determined?

Second of five articles on the foods of the future, from the research laboratory to the dinner table.

By BARBARA HOSMER

Since the food scientists have set as the goal the development of uniformly good flavor for each food product, one of the salient questions is "By whose standards is a flavor to be determined good?"

As Dr. B. S. Schweigert, head of the Michigan State University food science department, said, "Flavor and color and texture (of foods) vary definitely with and within the different cultures in the United States." What will taste good to one may taste like dog food to another.

The U.S. Dept. of Agriculture points out that, machines, instruments and new techniques have accomplished miracles in making the American family the best fed in the world, but final determination on food quality must be made by the human palate not a machine. Instruments can measure everything from the tenderness of roast beef to the color of a ripe tomato and chemical analysis can tell such things as the sweetness and acidity of the food. But what tastes good to a machine may not taste good to a human.

As scientists learn to control taste of foods some sort of human taste panel or judge are needed to test flavor quality, so food researchers use groups of people as a taste panel. And this is a tricky business, the scientists say, because often a person's opinion of food may have little to do with its actual taste, being influenced more by appearance, outside noises and distractions and other people's remarks.

To eliminate these factors from food evaluations the Agricultural Marketing Service scientists are using a taste panel which operates in specially built booths to allow testers to judge samples in private and under controlled lighting. Panel tasters are first tested to make sure they have highly developed sense of taste in the area of food the panel will judge.

When test time comes each taster goes into an individual booth and samples are passed of the food in small cups. If the test is for flavor alone a low level of light is used, bright enough for the tester to see to eat and mark a scoreboard, but not enough for him to really see food color or its fine features.

If food appearance is part of the test, then of course, full light is used.

In the past few years this is how quality has been judged in the products you now buy in the market. Test panels have been used to evaluate color and flavor of tomato juice, strawberries, peaches, peanut butter, sweet potatoes and apple juice, and the tenderness of green beans and sweet corn.

In all likelihood, then, this is the kind of test that will be used to determine when a food product has its best flavor and quality as scientists improve their ability to control flavor and quality.

Sometimes tenderness or texture is as important as taste. In the case of beef, Dr. Schweigert points out, calculating the amount of protein per serving of utility steak as against the amount per choice steak will show a definite difference in tenderness, as the choice steak contains more intra-muscular fat. Another tenderness measurement is the simple one of counting the number of chews a person must make before he can swallow a bite of meat.

He also pointed out that there are physical methods of shearing meat, for example, that correlate fairly well with human judgment if the panel has been trained to test for tenderness. With fruits and vegetables some physical methods of measurement have been developed to tell when they should be harvested to be at their best.

Such testing as developed so far is proving useful in determining good quality of foods as they are grown and will prove similarly useful in determining good flavor and quality at the food processing level, scientists explain.

Rancho School Is Newest P-TA

Newest Parent-Teacher Assn. unit in Marin is the Rancho School P-TA in Novato, which held its charter meeting last week.

New officers were elected, headed by Gordon Leathers, president. His staff includes Robert Comaduran, first vice president; Rex Rolle, second vice president; Mrs. David Matson, secretary; Howard Neal, treasurer; James Rose, auditor; Mrs. Robert Bonner, historian and Mrs. Roy Knoff, parliamentarian.

Delegates to the Morth Marin Council are Mrs. Gordon Leathers, Mrs. Roy Knoff and Mr. Comaduran. Alternates are Mesdames Glen Dunbar, R. J. Layton and Stanley Cozneaux.

William J. J. Smith, superintendent of the Novato School District, installed the officers and Mrs. Malcolm Finley, 14th District P-TA president, instructed in P-TA procedures.

THE PARENTS' CORNER

Our Children Are Cream Puffs Compared To Active Europeans

Our children are cream puffs, physically. They're softer, lazier and fatter than the boys and girls of Europe.

Health specialists discovered their weakness several years ago. They tested the muscular strength of thousands of youngsters, here and abroad. They found American children are weak. When they published the results many of us squawked. We couldn't believe it. I, for one, was sure the reports were wrong. But since then there have been other similar studies. There's no doubt now that our children lack muscular strength. Don't misunderstand me. They are big and healthy. They get superior medical care and superior diets. They are mentally capable. But they're cream puffs, physically.

Why? Because ther're not active. Compare your childhood with theirs. You walked long distances. They don't. You played in the afternoon and evenings but they sit and watch TV. You took part in ball games. They are in the stands, watching. You got a job, and worked hard. They can't. You rode your bike miles each day. They don't. Children in Europe still use their muscles. Children in the U.S. don't. We're the losers.

What can we do? One thing is to take up home activities which require exertion. We can teach our children it's better to play ball than to sit and watch. We can take hikes togethed. We even can have family setting-up exercises before breakfast. Our own waistlines would benefit.

I think our schools should return to gymnastics. They should provide muscle training in gym classes. And they should help each child to specialize in at least one vigarous sport. Sweat is healthy, you know.

Working Girl Needs At Least $2,854, State Study Shows

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — If you're a single working girl and supporting yourself, you're in trouble if you're not making $2854.98 per year.

The state division of industrial welfare has worked out a "Minnie's Budget"—the minimum for which a self-supporting working woman can live a year in California. The budget was formulated to learn the minimum amount on which a woman could live in the state, maintaining her health, her job, her self-respect and the respect of her friends and fellow workers.

The bigest chunk of Minnie's budget goes for food and housing. The division estimates it takes $1121.24 a year for these needs, based on the cost of half of a three-room apartment shared with another woman, half the cost of food for meals cooked at home by the two women, and the cost of lunches eaten in restaurants five days a week.

The budget also includes $283.90 for clothing; $200 for medical, dental and optical care; $200 for insurance and savings for emergencies; $166.36 for recreation, education and reading material; $175.88 for transportation; $85 for miscellaneous items; $56.49 for personal care; $46.03 for clothing upkeep; and $520.08 for income and payroll taxes.

But Girls Protest Minimum, Saying They're Poor Enough

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Two young ladies challenged the State of California's assertion that a working girl can live on a salary of $54.90 a week, before taxes.

"Somebody up there is crazy," agreed Jean Machado, 25, and Carol Meyers, 22.

The state Industrial Welfare Commission announced the salary, saying that it was the minimum amount needed by a low-income working woman.

Miss Machado and Miss Meyers, who share a three-room apartment, both earn above the minimum wage, which works out to $237.91 a month.

Miss Machado, a hospital clerk, earns $265 a month; Miss Meyers, a medical receptionist, earns $300.

"But we're poor now. How could we live on anything less?" They wanted to know.

Commissioners set Minnie's wage by deciding what she would need and then pricing each item in five areas.

Following are selections from Minnie's budget and comments from the girls:

Food, including lunches at work, $42.43-a-month—"That's a lot of wieners."

Rent and utilities, $45.87-a-month—"Maybe she can do it without a telephone, but how can a girl live without that?" (The girls share $110-a-month plus utilities for their apartment.)

Clothing, $283.90-a-year, includes such items as:

One bathing suit every four years, $2.38-a-year—"Is this budget supposed to be for California or Alaska?"

Two washable dresses, 2 cotton dresses, 1 afternoon or date dress, $48.15-a-year—"That's all right if she sits home every night in her pajamas."

One week vacation a year, $66—"I can't even stay home on my vacation for $66."

Dry cleaning, $13.40-a-year—"She's going to be awfully grimy."

Recreation, 8 movies, 6 times bowling and 6 times swimming, $14.92—"She can do it with a lot of dates, but where does she find men with no telephone and those clothes?"

Magazines and books, 20c a week—"She must be illiterate."

The budget includes no car for Minnie, who takes a bus to work. The girls, each of whom owns a car, said, "How does she go places, trot along the freeway?"

Miss Machado, who is attending night classes at a state college, believed the budget should include money for education so that Minnie could "work out of her rut."

Miss Meyers said that one item in the budget was too high: $200-a-year for medical, dental and optical expenses. "She doesn't need that unless she gets awfully sick looking at her paycheck," she said.

FACE AND FIGURE

Faithful Freckles Return With First Rays Of Sun

By JOY MILLER

Of the many things that bloom in summer — flowers, flirtations, freckles — at least one is still with you this fall. Your faithful, frustrating freckles, of course.

If you're living in hope they will fade away over the winter, prepare yourself for the shock: The sun will bring them out again in full hue.

The truth is, a freckle is a permanent landmark and you might as well get used to the topography.

The spatterings of colorful pigment, ranging from salmon to deep red to deep brown, may march across a nose and call halt. Or they may cover the face, neck, arms and backs of hands.

Freckled youngsters are usually called cute by non-freckled adults. A "freckled-faced little kid" is, by popular definition, wholesome and appealing.

Freckled girls may be tomboyish, the lads mischievous and all boy. But there's never a doubt their hearts are in the right place. The public image was established years ago.

For boys, being freckled is just something you put up with, like washing your ears.

Girls, however, especially in their early teens as they embark upon their life's work of improving their looks, suffer agonies at what they consider unfair disfigurement. Margie doesn't have freckles, why do I have to?

The fact that Margie has buck teeth and acne is no consolation. Teeth can be straightened and acne cured. What can you do for freckles?

Not much, says a skin specialist who has done considerable research in the matter.

He's Dr. Irwin I. Lubowe, associate dermatologist at Metropolitan Hospital Center, whose private practice includes famous patients from stage and screen.

In an interview he gave the following answers.

What are freckles?

"Freckles, Ephelides to be technical, are circumscribed and localized collections of pigment cells which occur in clumps on the skin."

Who has them?

"Usually they occur in blondes and light brunettes who have either natural blonde hair or red hair. They are very rarely seen in people who develop a deep sun tan, or in the pigmented races."

When do they first appear?

"As a rule from the sixth to the eighth year. It takes time for these pigment cells to develop, from exposure to ultra violet light."

Can freckles cause cancer?

"Freckles are benign. But it is true that light-pigmented people prone to freckles are more prone to produce skin cancer if exposed to the sun for excessively long periods, such as farmers and sailors are.

Is freckle cream effective?

"Not particularly. It occasionally peels the top skin, but may cause irritation. Freckles are in the deep areas of the skin.

"There are many external agents used as peeling lotions which contain salicylic acid phenol or ammoniated mercury, which is a bleaching agent and is the active ingredient in most freckle creams. Recently a new therapeutic medium known as Benoquin (monobenzyl ether of hydroquinone) is being used for the reduction of freckles; however, its continued use may cause a skin rash."

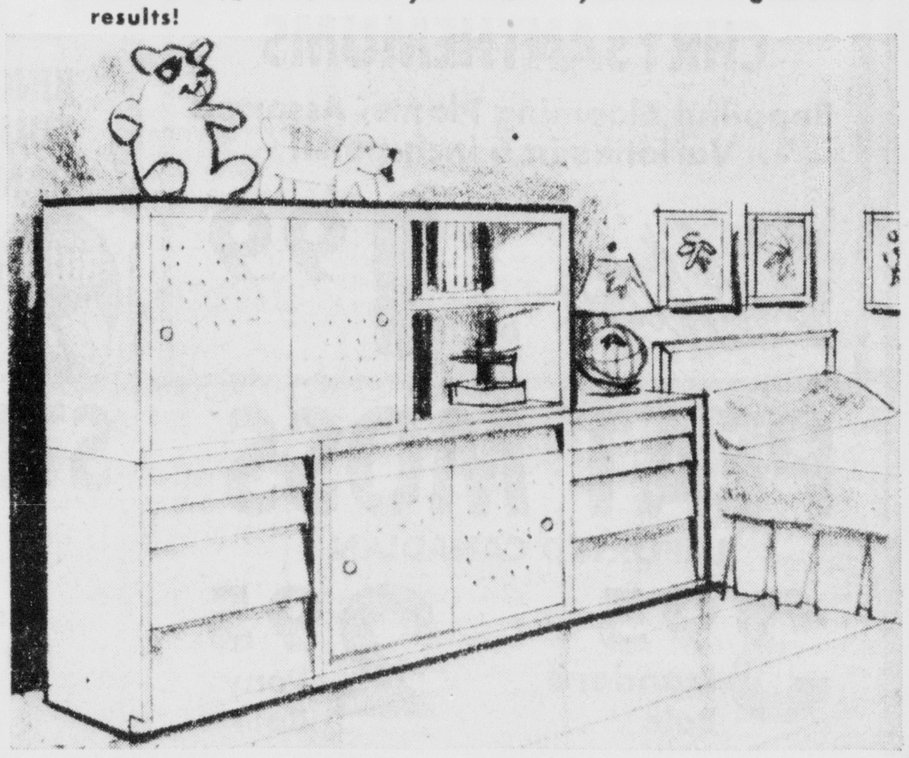
MAKE THIS A MEMORABLE CHRISTMAS FOR YOUR CHILD

★ Refurnish your son or daughter's room with White's wall-to-wall furniture.

★ You save ½ to ⅓ when you finish it yourself—we guarantee results!



Can you count the number of furniture pieces shown above? There are six pieces in all: a headboard, an open cabinet, two chests, two sliding door cabinets, one with a drawer.

These can be purchased separately or as a unit. They have a uniform height (29 inches) and depth (16 inches). As a result they can be placed together to achieve that "built-in" look. Available in solid ash or hemlock.

Finishing is easy with Beverlee's Satin Stain Kit—we guarantee results.

Vanguards To Hear Inspector

Inspector Harvey Teague of the Marin County Sheriff's Office will speak on juvenile delinquency and its costs to the county when he speaks to members of the Vanguards, the Marin Chapter of the City of Hope National Medical Center Tuesday.

The group will meet at 8 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Bauer, 756 Montecillo Road, Terra Linda. Inspector Teague will outline the typical case of a boy in trouble from the time he is apprehended until he is brought before the juvenile court judge. Mrs. Frank Dittrich is program chairman.

Vanguards president, Mrs. Jay Barbeau of Marinwood, has invited interested persons to contact her.

Four M Patrol Wins Trophy At Show, Rodeo

A capacity audience opening night at the Grand National Livestock and Rodeo at the Cow Palace in San Francisco saw the Marin County Four M Mounted Patrol take the coveted first award for the most outstanding women's entry in the color guard.

The opening show is traditionally California State Horsemen's Night. Three hundred horses and riders from all sections of the state filled the arena in a spectacular array of color and pageantry. A trophy was added to the collection of the Four M Women's Mounted Patrol of Marin.

Bearing the colors for the group in the winning entry were: Mrs. William McCall of Greenbrae, Mrs. Hodge Davidson of Ross, Mrs. Clifford Pierce of Novato, and Mrs. Norman Yeo of Sonoma formerly of Marin.

Comes High

Coffee industry sources estimate that at the time in the United States when a good meal was available for about 12 cents, William Penn and others of his generation were paying $4.68 for a pound of the brew.

BLOOMING BRIGHT

Fashion Shelters Shown By Chapman

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK — Now dame fashion can have a personal shelter to protect her from romantic fall-out—say, star dust.

Designer Ceil Chapman gets credit for the pleasant shelter —a chiffon topping fashioned like a short jacket, a billow cape or modified toga. It's to be worn over strapless cocktail dresses.

The shelter was one new twist in the Chapman collection for spring. The collection was full of sultry and alluring things.

Miss Chapman drew on the Nile for major inspiration, calling her collection "Daughters of the Nile." She carried the Egyptian theme to such extremes that even the little black dress was renamed "The Kohl black dress." Kohl was the stuff Egyptian women used to blacken their eyes.

For females preferring more warmth and opaque qualities, she topped some strapless chiffon cocktail dresses with suede shelters.

Most seen in the collection was the chiffon dress—draped, twisted and wrapped about the body almost mummy fashion. Colors ranged from citrus orange and yellow to Nile green.

Cocktail and evening dresses feature the dress sans straps with figure-hugging underskirts topped by flowing chiffon panels.

'Mission Village Exhibit' To Benefit YWCA Projects

This Christmas you can charm your friends with unique, imported gifts available and at the same time aid local YWCA services as well as a new self-help program for needy people around the globe.

Kaye Hunt, director of the Marin YWCA, announced that this triple combination of Christmas giving is the result of a new project sponsored by the Church World Service. It is "Mission Village Exhibit," a display of exotic gifts, handcrafted by refugees abroad. It will be shown Nov. 6 through 10 and from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the YWCA, 620 Sutter Street, San Francisco.

Miss Hunt said major proceeds will help provide continuous employment to refugees who are in need of help to help themselves. A small percentage will be set aside to extend local YWCA services.

The event is sponsored in the Bay Area by the Gold Mine Gift Shop, a YWCA volunteer service.

To be shown, for either immediate purchase or order for future delivery, will be such rare items as mother-of-pearl jewelry from the Holy Land, hammered copper and brass from Egypt, handwoven skirts from Okinawa, carved mahogany bowls from Haiti, olive wood crosses, georgette silk place mats from India, Hungarian pottery, African carvings, and embroidered silks and inlaid plates and boxes from the Far East. Many other objects, including costumed dolls and other items, unobtainable from other sources, will be displayed.

The Village Fair In Sausalito Is (And Has Been) Many Things

Sausalito's Village Fair at 777 Bridgeway has had about as interesting an evolution as you can find anywhere in a 40-year-old building, according to Stuart Rose who is responsible for much of its development in recent years.

Erected as a three-story garage in the early 1920s to house commuters' cars, it has seen such activities flourish within its solid concrete walls or on its roof as bootlegging, gambling, club parties, peewee golf, wartime quarters for Marinship engineers and training schools, bait shops, sail loft, Chinese laundry and artists' cubicles before settling down to its present community-shop usage.

The current multiplicity of these small shops, Rose told Marin realtors this week, has been so successful that many have tried to copy the plan elsewhere. But a good number of similar projects have failed, he admitted, because there are not many places where such a venture would thrive besides Sausalito.

The Village Fair's success, he feels, is due to the non-competitive service of each shop, the unusual layout which provokes curiosity among visitors in discovering what's on the next floor and individual designs of the shops themselves. Also, occupants have learned to generate their own world-wide sources of supply. Many of these stock items are unobtainable in other markets.

Decision to lay out a village-type arrangement came in 1954 after a study of similar projects conducted successfully in Quebec, Carmel and other locations. Of the 11 original tenants who came in the building on this basis, Rose says, nine are still there.

Additional construction on the hillside at the rear of the building has also done wall. Vacancies are no problem.

LARKSPUR REALTOR Mabelle Culpepper has a 20-year collection of California governor's signatures—Frank F. Merriam, Culbert L. Olsen, two from Earl Warren, two from Goodwin J. Knight and now Edmund G. Brown. She just received the last one Tuesday. They're affixed to her notary commissions running back to 1941.

MOTOR BRIEFS: Chevrolet celebrates its 50th anniversary tomorrow. During its first year of operation in 1912 it turned out 2,999 cars. Currently it holds the industry record for number of cars and trucks built by a company during a single year (2,267,612 in 1960). Predicted sales for 1962 are even higher . . .

The 1962 Mobil Economy Run for American-made cars will be held April 5 between Los Angeles and Detroit. Four possible routes of travel are listed, but exact streets and highways of the run will not be revealed until a few hours before cars leave each day's starting line, in order to prevent competitors from practicing . . .

Hertz Corp. has announced it will buy cars from motorists at premium, above - market prices. Payments will be made in car rentals from its world-wide fleet anytime, anywhere. The "Auto Bank" plan has been tested in Chicago; will move to San Francisco soon. Bob Harper, San Rafael Hertz agent, says he hasn't any instructions for Marin County and it probably won't be effective here.

UOP Plans Spanish School

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Spanish lauguage college will be included in the University of Pacific's new "college cluster" plan on the Stockton campus, it has been announced here.

The Oxford patterned group of colleges, planned to supplement the present system of specialized colleges, will include the all-Spanish school for foreign students and Spanish speaking Americans.

Dr. Robert E. Burns, president of the University, made the announcement at a luncheon of the United Methodist Crusade in Northern California and Nevada.

Funds from the crusade will finance the university's expansion program, including the "cluster" project.

All subjects at the Spanish college, to be called the Elbert Covell College for a Pacific regent, will be taugh in Spanish, and English will be on the curriculum as a foreign language.

It is to be opened in the fall of 1963, but students may prepare to enter by taking Spanish-taught courses in economic geography, economy and business administration beginning in February.

Army's Language School Celebrates 20th Birthday

MONTEREY (AP) — The Army Languare School celebrated its 20th anniversary yesterday with announcement of two new courses—in Swahili and Toishan.

Army plans to develop a course in Swahili, an African language spoken in the sub-Sahara region, were made on the strong probability that African linguists may be needed in the near future.

"The ever - growing list of new African states appearing on the world's roster of nations underlines the growing importance of this part of the world," said Col. James L. Collins Jr., comandant of the school which already teaches 28 languages.

This is first time the language school has taken on an African language.

The other language the school is preparing to teach — Toishan — is a dialect spoken in Southern China.

The 28 languages currently offered at the school extend the Army's capability for communication to nearly 75 per cent of the world's people.

College Landscaping Contract Awarded

Paradise Engineering Construction Inc. has been awarded a $7,947 contract for landscaping outdoor physical education facilities at San Jose State College, it was announced by the State Department of Public Works.

David Dorward, executive vice president of the firm at 5760 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera, said the job would entail landscaping and installation of a sprinkling system.

Smog Unit Hopes To Up Tax Ceiling

Directors of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District want authority to increase their tax ceiling by 60 per cent, and they hope to add three new counties to the district.

At their meeting yesterday they unanimously approved a request to Gov. Edmund G. Brown to put the matter of the tax rate increase on a special call of the legislature next February. They asked that the one cent maximum rate per $100 assessed valuation be increased to 1.6 cents. At this year's legislative session, a proposal to increase the ceiling to two cents passed the Assembly, but died in Senate committee. The current rate is one cent.

The directors also authorized calling a meeting, to which Napa, Solano and Sonoma Counties would be invited to attend, to discuss the three joining the six other Bay Area counties in smog control. No date was set.

Someone Doing Something About Smoking By Youth

Last year the Marin County Medical Society launched a pioneer project in educating the children of Marin County about the effects of smoking. The first news stories on surveys thus conducted showed an alarming involvement of boys and girls in seventh and eighth grades, and younger, with tobacco.

This year, the program has quietly started again. On invitation of the schools, teams of doctors speak before gatherings of the students on the proven facts of cigarette smoking.

This is no scare program. It is related to the dangers of cancer only insofar as the danger of cancer from smoking is one of the effects. Mainly it is designed to show the students what causes them to smoke and what are likely to be the results of such a habit.

It has been interesting to the doctors to find that the boys and girls seem much more interested in the reasons why they smoke than in the dangers, which often seem impersonal to the students. For this reason, the talks are being aimed more and more in this direction as experience shows which way the doctors can get their message across most effectively.

Strangely enough, there has not been a loud clamor from the schools for the program, possibly this is because many school trustees and superintendents have not heard of the availability of the program.

We hope this is the reason, rather than a disinterest on the part of the schools.

Programs such as this, oriented through the school faculty as is done here, can be of inestimable good for the health and welfare of our children. It is discouraging to see junior high school or high school students standing on the corners near their schools in a cloud of smoke.

It would be more discouraging if no one was doing anything to make them aware of what they are doing to themselves.

Ancient Hobby Of Bird Watching

Bird watching, which is such a lively hobby in Marin now, is actually one of the world's most ancient avocations.

Paintings made on the walls of caves during the ice age show birds and indicate a lively interest in bird habits. The Egyptians beginning in 4400 B. C. made statues and painting of birds, some of which correspond to the exact species today.

After the invention of printing, some of the earliest books were bird books. There are many incidental mentions of birds in the Bible.

No doubt about it—bird watching is a hobby which has survived the test of time.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

LOSS GREATER THAN GAIN

An old Italian beggar's smiles turned to tears when he learned the full story about his bed.

At first he had been happily surprised to discover that social workers had cleaned up his primitive living quarters.

But he was heartsick when he learned that his old straw mattress had been replaced by a new one. His life savings of $1600, hidden inside the old bed, had been tossed out with the mattress.

While every phase of human life is constantly in need of renewal and improvement, care should be taken lest harm be done in the name of progress.

Resist the temptation to be overzealous and thus avoid doing more harm than good. Make sure to separate the chaff from the wheat. Even an old mattress may contain something of value.

Discover and develop the element of good in the worst of people and situations and you will be following God's divine formula for renewing the face of the earth.

"When as yet we were sinners . . . . Christ died for us."

(Romans 5:8-9)

Remind me, O Lord, to make sure that I help rather than hinder true progress.

Tokyo Is A Frustrating City, But Fascinating None The Less

By CONRAD FINK
(For Hal Boyle)

TOKYO (AP) — Long-time American residents in Tokyo lump their newly arrived countrymen in one category —"the Fresh Eyes."

The assumption is that a newcomer from the United States, where much of the plumbing works most of the time, views things differently than Americans who've been here a while.

New arrivals are admonished: "You have fresh eyes. After you've been here longer you won't notice the difference."

The admonition could follow, for example, Fresh Eyes' amazement at being almost smothered in politeness by a shopkeeper and then narrowly missing being run down by a devil-may-care taxi driver the moment he steps out the door.

It's the contrasts—contrasts that seem to place this largest city in the world on the brink of schizophrenia—that startle Fresh Eyes.

In this city, women delicately clad in beautiful kimonos jostle on the sidewalks with gum-chomping bobby-soxers; the graceful geisha competes in the entertainment world with the hip-swaying crooner batting out a hit tune from America; blazing neon lights atop ultra-modern buildings cast an unearthly glow over the rickshaw man.

On a personal, man-to-man basis, the Tokyoite showers Fresh Eyes with courtesies, bowing often and elaborately, sparing no effort to make him feel at home.

However, it's the contrast between Tokyo and Fresh Eyes' old world—New York or San Francisco, for instance —that is most startling.

Ever have a hotel bellhop run out into the rain to pick up your bags, bow, smile, murmur "Good evening" and then refuse a tip? It happens in Tokyo all the time.

TRYING TO rent a house is a problem in most large cities of the world but in Tokyo the pitfalls in those delightful little Japanese homes are hidden.

Armed with lots of advice, Fresh Eyes carefully tests the pressure in the bathroom and kitchen before closing the deal with Mama-san, the landlady. Plenty of water.

THE NEXT morning he climbs into the shower, soaps up—and no water. At least half the almost 10 million persons in Tokyo's metropolitan area suddenly have taken a drink of water and when that happens faucets emit vague rumblings but little water.

As one long-time resident put it, "Tokyo is frustrating —but fascinating."

THE CYNIC'S CORNER By Interlandi

"Texas? Oh, it's a nice place to visit, but I wouldn't want to live there . . . !"

IF WE HAD A CHOICE—

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Shades Of Linus Pauling

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Do you simply run the editorial page cartoons as they come from the syndicate, or are they meant to express your own point of view?

Your August first cartoon was entitled: "Get Ready, Get Set—Get Set—Get Set" and shows our President trying to start Uncle Sam on a bomb-testing race, but cobwebs impede his trigger finger and he just can't come out with "Go." Uncle Sam's track clothes are labelled "Nuclear Testing Needs." Question: Was the I-J also impatient to resume testing?

One month later (September 5) the cartoon is labelled: "I Had To Protect The Peace"; it's a vulture-like apparition with the Russian sickle for a head, the globe clasped in its talons, and "Nuclear Test Resumption" written across its breast. Now, I-J thinks resumption of testing was pretty evil?

When you put these two pictures side by side, at what level of reader-intelligence are they aimed?

Footnote: In a way, even the atomic cloud has a silver lining: we are nationally alerted to a fall-out danger that many patriots poohpoohed during our own testing spree a few years back—shades of Linus Pauling.

Let Aged Move Into Dog Shelter

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I am a quiet man and have never written anything like this before in my life . . . Let me say that some of my views are the views of about 90 per cent of the people who, through no fault of their own, have come to be wards of the county and must live at the county farm in Lucas Valley.

What has irritated me to the point that I feel that I should express myself, regardless of the consequences, was your front page stories of Oct. 24 and 25. In bold, black headlines you informed your readers that the county was to lose $150,000 from the state's social welfare aid program unless certain recommended improvements were made on the hospital building in Lucas Valley and also that the hospital would be closed Jan. 1 if these improvements were not made.

Then in more bold headlines on the same page you point out that a bunch of high minded, socially prominent people were fighting to keep the new dog pound from being built at Terra Linda. (They seem to have won their battle.) The cost of this animal shelter was not mentioned in your article, however you did mention that it would have three sound proof buildings on a 15-acre site.

What is wrong with our people? Have they gone clear off their rockers? Has radiation fallout gotten to them? Are the wrong ones being paid off by someone?

Or are they so wrapped up in their own personal problems that they can no longer think of the welfare or future of the county? . . .

Which is more important, a new animal shelter or a new hospital at Lucas Valley?

We at the farm have no objection to the animal shelter being built here on a 15 acre site, with three new soundproof buildings. We figure that we could move into the animal shelter and let the dogs and cats move into the building we are in (unless the dogs would object).

That way at least, we could be sure of getting our $76,000 per year from the state.

Let our county officials and our public minded citizens think this over. It does make sense.

New Height Of Insanity

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Our critics accuse us of being a materialistic society. They are certainly borne out by this line from a UPI story today:

"The administration is under increasing pressure to start tests above ground to develop new weapons . . . principally a neutron bomb. Such a bomb would be capable of killing human without destroying property."

This is probably a new height of insanity.

Are we to presume that the owners of the property (ensconced in very, very deep shelters) will emerge after the holocaust, and survey their property—sans humans?

And—are we human?

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

Writers are famous procrastinators, and seize on any kind of excuse to put off getting down to work. Novelist Graham Greene found a brand new way of procrastinating. A friend visited him at his English country estate and reported, "Every day Graham would disappear mysteriously for hours from the house. When I finally asked him what he was up to, he explained that he could not write another word until a certain combination of numbers—987—appeared to him by accident. He was spending hours by the roadside waiting for those numbers to pass on a license plate.

"Well, it's a poor country road, aand there are not many motor cars. So Graham didn't write a single word for the enitre week."

George Bernard Shaw was no lover of motion pictures. "Films bore me," he explained once, "because they show interminably people getting in and out of limousines, trains, and buses. I am not interested in how people get to different places, but what they do when they get there."

Communist Party In U.S. At Low Point In 30 Years; Worse To Come

WASHINGTON — There is some tendency in Congress and in the country to suggest that the federal government is doing little or nothing to cope with the Communists in the United States.

The fact is that the government is doing a great deal about the activities of the Communist agents. The position of the Communist Party in the U. S. is weaker than ever before and its propaganda is more widely identified.

Preventing espionage, sabotage, and other subversive acts rarely gets the headlines because the Federal Bureau of Investigation can't reveal such information. This is why the accounts of convictions and other such statistics are an inadequate measure of the F.B.I.'s success.

THE FACT IS that information which the F.B.I. has developed and disseminated during the past year has been of value to every arm of the government. Such data has led to diplomatic protests to foreign governments, to the exclusion and deportation of dangerous aliens, and other actions which prevent and disrupt the plans of the Communist apparatus.

For example, two diplomats, a first secretary and a third secretary of the Soviet Embassy in Washington, were declared persona non grata by the Department of State. The first counsellor of the Czechoslovak mission to the U. S. was also expelled, and a Soviet employee of the United Nations was ordered out of the country by a Federal court as a condition for the dismissal of an espionage indictment against him.

ALL OF THESE actions resulted from information developed by the F.B.I., which is far busier at its work than ever appears on the surface.

I do not suggest that the Communist Party in the U. S. is so crippled that there is no danger. The Communist agent and the Communist advocate are always a danger, but the Communist Party is today weaker numerically, financially, and politically than at any time in the past 30 years.

I am convinced that the Communist Party will become still more weakened. The date on which its next difficulties will begin is Nov. 20 when the party must register as an agent of the Soviet Union or suffer the consequences.

Naturally the Communists will do their worst to defy the law. That's par for the course. Gus Hall, general secretary of the Communist Party, U. S. A. branch, has said so openly. Apparently the Communists would prefer no American Community party if they can't continue to serve the Kremlin. These are Hall's words:

"It (the Internal Security Act of 1950) is a monstrous law and it (the Supreme Court's ruling) is a monstrous decision. It asks the Communist Party to commit suicide and I can say very bluntly that we will not cooperate with any such precedent."

HALL MAY WELL be right in saying that registration will liquidate the Communist Party. That could be the effect because it will mean that the party cannot legally receive funds without disclosing their source, cannot legally accept members without disclosing their names, and cannot legally spread propaganda without disclosing its sponsorship.

But refusal to comply with the law can pile upon financial penalties which can also mean suicide for the Communist Party. This is why the Nov. 20 confrontation between the Communist Party and the Justice Department is so important.

Sausalito Story Told Once Again: Straight Talk, Laughter, Drama

The Sausalito story was told again last week at the central waterfront hearing in Central School—straight talk, laughter, steam, stage props, wit.

The drama began with a tabby cat which, unexpectedly appeared on city manager Charles Brown's table in front of the crowd. It jumped onto the press table and then onto the laps of chubby ladies and finally into the arms of Alan Scurfield.

All of the town was there. The council was on stage. Sally Stanford was in the second row. Swede Pedersen was toward the middle. Minnie Sievers, Byron Mayo, Paul Micou, Niel Davis, Victor Hecth. Sgt. Stan Kelly kept order.

There was a hum of expectancy and unexpectancy. Comedy was provided by Scurfield, who produced stage props of mounted photographs of wastepaper-ridden Sausalito parks. Pointing to one picture he said, "Here is a monument to every soul who loves flowers. I love flowers. And charm." He showed a picture of Tiffany Park.

"Here," he said, "is Tiffany Park, a study in rock. Here is a compost heap that generates what the Portuguese in town call 'foonch' or old lady's chewing tobacco." Mayor Phil Ehrlich rapped the gavel. Applause rang out.

STRAIGHT TALK, beautifully presented, came from many citizens. They spoke of park and parking and compromises between the two.

Carl Gabrielson spoke on "double talk" and Don Pizzano spoke on "double talk."

After one speaker had spoken someone said, "S-s-s-s." After another spoke someone said, "Fusselman." If it were not so, we would not say it.

Fred Perry, who said he had lived in the town since 1904, spoke of the "garlic belt" and said "when I was a boy in this town we had outhouses, kerosene lamps and wooden sidewalks. People had to borrow to pay for streets, water and sanitation. Taxes don't mean too much to some people," he said. He said, too, he spoke for Sausalito's senior citizens, people who have little homes and live on a set income.

In the end, park "to the extent feasible" was voted 3-2 and it seemed to us a happy medium was struck. It also seemed that here is a city which fights for what it wants. All views were presented. Democracy, perhaps.

I love Sausalito. You're a great town from the Wolf's Back to the Bay.

LOUIS SOLDAVINI is bursting his buttons over the gold badge for 20 years of faithful service to the Tiburon Volunteer Fire Department which was presented him in a ceremony at the recent Firemen's Ball.

Soldavini, now working for the City of Belvedere, remains faithful to the Tiburon Volunteers and is the last of the original volunteer fire department of 20 years ago.

I-J CORRESPONDENT Corena Green of Tiburon made her own news the other day. While cameramen were shooting pictures at her house, a fire broke out behind her back-yard fence.

Photogs Joe De Neri and Jim Kean didn't know whether to take pictures or put out the fire. The Tiburon Fire Department knew what to do.

After the blaze, Corena sat down with her first aid course from Red Cross to study her lesson in a semi-state of shock to find her assignment to be "how to prevent fires."

THE BERT ALLARDS of Stinson Beach have told us that their cat, Leo, has the habit of jumping out at them. The other day the orange Leo jumped off a garage roof onto a tree and one Mrs. Allard, who was hanging up the clothes. Scared her.

Then, Allard said, Leo puts his front paws up and pats Mrs. Allard on the cheeks. "It's affection," Mrs. Allard says. "I feed him."

Preston Canfield knows a cat that, when it wants to go outside, jumps up and tries to turn the door knob with its paws. He can't open the door, but it means he wants out. Siamese. Canfield's cat, Poquita, waits for the door to be opened.

Judge Brusatori Will Head Muscular Dystrophy Drive

Superior Court Judge N. Charles Brusatori will head the Muscular Dystrophy Assn.'s annual drive for funds.

The money is used for medical research to find the cause and cure of the muscle-wasting disease which cripples more than 200,000 Americans each year. Many victims are children.

The local drive is part of a nationwide effort which runs from Nov. 30 to Dec. 5. It is climaxed by a door-to-door campaign.

Mrs. Hans Hartmann of 472 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera, and Mrs. Richard Boldenweck of 573 Louis Drive, Novato, are seeking volunteers to assist in the campaign.

Three-Car Pileup —Only One Injury

A driver stopping to let a child cross the street resulted in a three-car pileup in San Anselmo yesterday.

Edward Hageman Jr., 44, building designer of 310 Hidden Valley Lane, Sleepy Hollow, halted his auto on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard 200 yards east of Francisco Boulevard when he spotted the youngster.

His car was rammed by an auto driven by Andy Kalpak, 61, of 27 Camino de Herrera, San Anselmo. A third driver, Christian Choristiance, 42, of 232 Olema Drive, Fairfax, drove into the rear of Kalpak's auto.

The only injury was to Kalpak, who was treated for possible whiplash injuries at Marin General Hospital. No citation was issued, according to Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani.

Rep. Miller To Attend National Guard Drill

Rep. Clem Miller (D-Corte Madera) will attend the first drill of Company D, 579th Engineer Battalion, California Army National Guard, in its new armory at 155 Madison Avenue, Santa Venetia, at 11:30 a.m. Sunday.

Miller missed the dedication on Oct. 22 and arranged to attend the drill instead. There will be a formation at which will present an American flag which has flown over the national capital.

Opening lead — ♠ 2

When West leads the deuce of spades, don't reach automatically for dummy's ten. That will make the rest of the suit worthless.

Play the three of spades from dummy and look self-assured. How can East tell what to do? If he plays the seven of spades you may produce the singleton nine or jack to win the trick. It's dollars to doughnuts that East will play the king of spades at the first trick; and this play gives you game and rubber.

East returns a diamond to the ace, and you finesse the queen of hearts to West's king. Back comes a diamond to the king, and you enter dummy with the eight of trumps to return the queen of spades through East.

MUST COVER: East must cover with the ace of spades, since you know all about that card. You ruff high, lead a trump to the nine, and ruff the low spade.

The jack of spades drops on this trick, setting up dummy's ten. This is the position you have been playing for. Now you lead a club to the ace and discard your losing diamond on dummy's ten of spades. There is still a trump in dummy for your last club, and your contract is safe.

Remember this type of play whenever an opponent leads a badly broken suit through dummy. The other oponent is probably in the dark as to what is going on, and you may persuade him to make the wrong play if you play low from dummy.

DAILY QUESTION: As dealer, you hold:

♠ 5
♥ A Q J 10 7 2
♦ K 8 4
♣ J 10 3

What do you say?

Answer: Bid one heart. You have 11 points in high cards, two points for the singleton, and fine high-card structure. Open the bidding in your strong major suit.

U.S. Traffic Death Rate Takes Drop

CHICAGO (UPI) — The traffic death rate for the January through September period was the lowest of any nine months in history of the automobile, the National Safety Council reports.

The council said the death rate for the first three quarters of the year was 5.0 per 100 million miles of travel, compared with 5.2 deaths in the first nine months of 1960.

Motor vehicles deaths during September totaled 3,350, a 4 per cent decrease from the toll in September, 1960. Twenty-six states reported decreases in the death rate in September. They were led by Delaware, with a 38 per cent decrease, and Maryland, with a 20 per cent decline.

Flood Control Proposal Is Approved

The Army Corps of Engineers today announced approval of an almost seven-million-dollar flood control plan for nine miles of Corte Madera Creek from Greenbrae to Fairfax.

Of the total estimated $6,872,000 cost, construction costs totaling $5,692,000 would be paid by the federal government. The state would pay an additional $1,180,000 for right of way acquisition and improvement.

Cost to the county and the five cities through which the creek passes—Larkspur, Corte Madera, Ross, San Anselmo and Fairfax—would be $26,000 per year maintenance for 50 years. Maintenance costs would add about one per cent per $100 assessed valuation to taxes, it was estimated by Supervisor William D. Fusselman.

The Army engineer's report will now go to the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors in Washington, D.C. Written communications on the project, not covering material already discussed at public hearings in 1945 and 1957, should reach the board before Dec. 4.

Meetings with the cities involved are now being set up, Fusselman said. If their approval, and final approval by federal authorities is gained, funds for the project would be included in an omnibus budget for senate approval.

The plan calls for deepening, widening and reinforcing of the creek and its tributaries. If approved by all parties, work should begin in 1964, Fusselman said.

Halloween Parade Winners Named For Greenbrae

Eight and nine—Tom Fowler, Calvin and Stephen Purcell, Marsaune and Merrily Milmoe and Nancy Loomis.

Ten and up — Debby Armes, Patricia Quigg, Denise Biancalana, Ronda Gotti, Kathie Connor, Cassie Buller and Sharon Vanetta.

Wallet Is Stolen At San Rafael Home

Harold Kieler of 11 Roger Drive in San Rafael told police yesterday that a wallet containing $65 was stolen last night from a dresser in the rear bedroom of his home.

Kieler told police he went to bed early Tuesday night and awoke about midnight because he was too warm. He opened the front door, he said. This morning the wallet, which he had placed on the dresser before retiring, was gone.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

LEVEL HILLTOP RETREAT

Enjoy a 360 degree view from this exclusive estate of more than an acre of practically level hilltop well studded with oaks. This site was selected by Marin's largest home builder for his own fine residence, a sprawling shake roof ranch house containing 3 bedrooms, 3 baths, a huge living room, separate dining room, family room and service room. Lovely fireplaces in living room and family room, a barbecue fireplace next to the pool plaza, 3-car garage with hobby space and extra lavatory. Adequate single phase wiring for any load. 20x40 ft. swimming pool surrounded by a magnificent plaza with fibreglas lanai and beautifully landscaped lawns, shrubs and flowers, meticulously kept. This home is only about 5 years old, and in almost perfect condition. Finest location in Greenbrae and a home to complement the site. All this for $95,000. Call us.

WANTED TO LEASE

The State of California desires to lease a new area office facility for use of the California Highway Patrol in the vicinity of San Rafael, California. The lease will include all necessary office space, carport, paved parking and fencing. Site offerings are solicited for examination to determine suitability for California Highway Patrol operations. Those sites found to be acceptable will be considered for construction of the above described facility. The State reserves the right to reject any and all sites offered. State proposals must be submitted on approved forms. Information regarding desired geographical locations and approved site proposal forms are available from Capt. T. F. Parnow, California Highway Patrol, 696 Francisco Blvd., San Rafael, California. Proposals will be received until 5:00 P.M., Tuesday, November 28, 1961.

World Federalists

Sanford Persons, national legislative director of United World Federalists, will conduct a "political action workshop" from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday at the home of Vernon Skewes-Cox on Laurel Grove Avenue, Ross.

Members of the federalist movement will attend and there will be an earlier meeting of the Northern California branch with Mrs. Skewes-Cox as hostess.

Young Republicans To Tour Napa Winery

Young Republicans from Marin and Sonoma Counties will tour the Louis Martini Winery in Napa Valley Sunday, then have a picnic and wine testing in Napa Valley State Park.

Marin's Young Republicans will form a caravan at 1 p.m. in front of the courthouse in San Rafael. Persons wishing to go should gather there, according to Mrs. C. A. Gerstner of the organization.

Since the end of World War II Dallas has constructed more office buildings than any other United States city except New York.

REPORTERS' DREAM

Meet Allen Drury, Senator-At-Large

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Meet Allen Drury, senator-at-large.

The author is here to oversee filming of his novel, "Advise and Consent." Never one to pass up a publicity possibility, producer-director Otto Preminger has dragooned Drury to play a senator in the film. What state does he represent?

"Senators without speaking parts aren't so designated," said Drury. "I don't know what I would choose. I was born in Texas, grew up in California, reside in Maryland and my parents live in Florida."

So we'll designate him at-large, which is a pretty good description of this towering, quiet-spoken but self-assured man. The Drury saga is dear to the heart of every newspaperman. He is one reporter who made it!

After 15 years of covering the U.S. Senate, he turned his knowledge into a hard-running best seller, with all the condensation, book club, play and movie rights and other harvests that writers dream about.

"Yes, a lot of money has come in," he admitted, "but it also has gone right out—to the Internal Revenue Service. The income taxe laws are not very good for authors and other people who make a lot of mney in one year."

What was the reaction of the real-life senators to his book, which deals frankly with the process of choosing a secretary of state.

"I think most of them liked it," said Drury. "The only one who has spoken out against it was Wayne Morse. I don't know why, exactly, but then it's hard to figure his motivations.

"Oh, yes, Bill Fulbright was reported to be grumbling about the book, perhaps because he didn't like the way the chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee was portrayed. But the book was written before he was it."

Drury's film duties have interrupted his writing of a second novel, "A Shade of Difference." It will carry some of the "Advise and Consent" figures into new areas, including the United Nations.

KQED Series To Be Aired In New York

"Eastern Wisdom and Modern Life," a television series produced by San Francisco station KQED featuring Alan Watts of Mill Valley, scholar and authority on Zen Buddism, will be aired in New York starting Sunday over station WNBC.

It marks the first time that a KQED-produced series has been aired in New York.

Watts is visiting in New York and is to be interviewed on Sunday over WNBC by that station's public affairs director, Jack Reynolds.

In the Bay Area, "Eastern Wisdom and Modern Life" is being seen on Channel 9 on Monday evenings at 8:30.

Stanford Prof Gets U.S. Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hollis B. Chenery, 43-year-old economics professor at Stanford University, was named yesterday to be director of the program review and coordination staff of the Agency for International Development.

The appointment was made by Fowler Hamilton, administrator of aid.

Chenery served in the U.S. assistance mission to Italy in 1951 and 1952. He also worked with U.S. assistance officials in France, Portugal, Greece and Turkey.

Protect Children From All Fires

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Board of Fire Underwriters, marking the 90th annual Fire Prevention Week, issued a list of safety rules for parents who employ baby sitters. The rules included:

1. The parents should know the sitter well.

2. The sitter should have a sense of responsibility and be liked by the children.

3. The same sitter should be used regularly if possible.

4. The parents should make sure that a new sitter becomes acquainted with the children and pets before leaving them together the first time.

5. Instructions should be given both orally and in writing.

6. The sitter should be instructed that in case of fire she should get the children out of the house first and then call the fire department. The parents then should be notified.

Doctor Rules Out Milk For Older Than 1

LOUISVILLE, KY. (AP) — No one over a year old should drink milk, says the chairman of the Public Policy Academy of General Practice.

Dr. Walter W. Sackett Jr. of Miami, Fla., who admitted his is a controversial position, said he is a bitter foe of free milk distribution in public schools.

"I send notes to school for my own kids and ask that they be given tea or coffee instead of milk," he told the Louisville Courier-Journal in an interview recently.

"Why buy national suicide?" he asked.

Because they are high in choleseterol, milk and other dairy products should be eliminated from the American diet, he said.

Cholesterol is the saturated fat which sometimes piles up in coronary arteries and brings on heart attacks.

It's A Secret

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Architect Walter Scholer was showing a visitor around the new Tippecanoe County jail he had designed. "Don't tell anybody," he whispered. "I can't get out, but I have found a way to sneak in."

COAST MANAGER—Charles W. Knapp of 71 Bellevue Drive, Belvedere, has been named West Coast manager for corporate finance by Hempmill, Noyes and Co., investment firm. He will also co-manage the San Francisco office at 111 Sutter Street.

Peace Is Declared Along Fishing Site

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Georgia and Florida fishing licenses now are both valid along the 102 miles of the St. Mary's River which forms the border between Southeast Georgia and Northeast Florida.

A reciprocal agreement reached by Georgia and Florida ended long contention between the two states and arrests of many fishermen from both states who strayed across the channel center.

Rangers Prodding Yosemite Bears Back To High Ground To Hibernate

By MARK KNIGHT

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK (AP)—A deserted campground in a national park is no place for bears that have scrounged off tourists the livelong summer. It is the job of rangers to prod them back into the high country for a good winter's sleep.

This saves a lot of wear and tear on garbage cans and other deserted areas where the bears have received ample handouts from indulging visitors.

The procedure is a far cry from that of a few years ago, says Del Armstrong, chief biologist at Yosemite.

Where it used to be necessary to trap the animals indiscriminately and haul them to the high-lands, science—with tranquillizers the major tool—has simplified and humanized the process.

"Now we get the particular animal we're after," says Armstrong. "Maybe he's a rogue, or perhaps just an uninhibited nuisance. We entice him into a trap, shoot a harmless tranquillizer into him, pull him out and insert an earmarker that enables us to keep a case record of his future conduct.

"When he has slept off the effects of the anesthetic he finds himself in the particular environment—probably a few miles away—where we think he will adjust himself to a less artificial existence."

Last October Armstrong and his assistants gave 17 black bears this treatment at the large garbage dump back of Camp Curry. They left a few that were considered sufficiently docile and well adjusted to spend the winter in the lower park environs.

This fall there will be refinements and a new goal. The earmarking will be applied to every animal still in the valley when the normal drift to the higher Sierra occurs.

"We find this more humane than the rough-and-ready trapping, and the tranquillizer makes it possible to keep accurate records, heretofore impractible," says Armstrong. "But it was noted the bears did scuff themselvese up somewhat as they recovered from the anesthetic. So we are going to slide them into traps after the ear-marking, then haul them away or release them as the individual bear temperaments indicate. This should prevent self-inflicted wounds as they recover from their 'jags'."

Armstrong says they never quite know what to expect from the bears and next spring the answer will be more important because the garbage dump will no longer be in the valley. It is being removed this winter to a newly constructed park housing
